GENERAL MASSU

De Gaulle Fires Commander Of Algiers Section

PARIS, (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle stuck stoutly to his Algerian peace policy Friday and fired Gen. Jacques Massu as commander of the Algiers area. Ironically, Massu had been in the forefront of the May 1958 Algiers revolt that restored De Gaulle to power in France.

De Gaulle's actions now are expected to send tensions even higher in the war-torn North African territory. Massu, 51, a tough, hawk-nosed paratrooper general, is a hero to the European residents of Algeria who bitterly oppose any concessions to the Algerian nationalists.

RIOTING

In the midst of rioting in Algiers on May 13, 1958, Massu set up a rightist military regime and called on the then President Rene Coly to bring De Gaulle back for a strong man role as premier in Paris. The Fourth French Republic later fell and De Gaulle became president of the Fifth.

No official reason was given for Massu's dismissal but it obviously was the result of his outspoken criticism of the moderate Algerian policies of De Gaulle. A two-line communique from the Army ministry said only that Gen. Jean Chépin, a member of the staff of the Algeria supreme commander, Gen. Maurice Challe, would take over command of the Algiers military region. The communique said Massu would be received by De Gaulle before any decision is taken on a new assignment for him.

Massu Friday was excluded from a top-level Algerian conference here in which he originally was to have taken part.

A few hours after the conference De Gaulle made plain that he was sticking by his Algerian program despite mounting civil and military pressures. Apparently sure of support at home and among a majority of uncommitted residents of Algeria, he insisted again that Algerians should

Cold Weather Conditions Set Tragedy Stage

Northeast Louisiana, shivering under a 12-day-old cold snap, Friday counted one death directly attributed to weather, and braced for at least two more days of freezing temperatures.

An 81-year-old housewife from the Pumpkin Center Community near Jonesboro died in a Ruston hospital in the early morning after she suffered burns over body after her dress caught fire from a gas heater in her three room home.

Neighbors and the woman's husband rushed into the wood frame dwelling on U. S. Highway 167 after hearing screams to find Mrs. Edith Gresham Nash enveloped in flames, her dress burned from her body.

TRAGEDY

Mrs. Nash's husband, Napoleon, was feeding chickens in the front yard about 10 a.m. Thursday when the tragedy unfolded. A neighbor, Lovie Williams, rushed past the elderly man and extinguished the flames.

She was rushed directly from her home to the Ruston hospital where she later died.

Coupled with the cold wave, came a warning from the Monroe Fire Department that the fire incidence rate is on the increase. Records clerk Pete Cutler cautioned that gas heaters, hot water tanks and kitchen stoves are prime factors in unnecessary winter blazes.

Still another sobering note was sounded by a doctor and an undertaker who pointed out that sudden changes in weather may help business in their respective fields.

Rep. Barden Tells Plans To Resign

Surprise Move Could Carry Wide Results

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman Graham A. Barden (D-NC) of the House Labor and Education Committee announced Friday he is quitting Congress after this year.

His surprise decision to step aside as one of the most powerful and conservative figures in the House was made without advance notice to Democratic leaders, including Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas.

The immediate result under seniority rules is to place Rep. Adam Clayton Powell (D-N.Y.), 51, Negro civil rights champion and pastor of New York City's Abyssinian Baptist church, in line for the chairmanship.

FIGURE

Powell, long a controversial figure among House Democrats, is awaiting trial March 7 on a three-count indictment charging him with aiding in preparation of a fraudulent income tax return and income tax evasion.

Conservative Southern House members reacted vigorously to Barden's retirement plans and the possibility of Powell's elevation to a key committee handling labor bills and of immediate concern to Dixie-legislation dealing with schools.

Rep. W. J. Bryan Dorn (D-SC) announced he would oppose Powell's rise to chairman and started a move to get Barden to reconsider his decision not to seek reelection. Other comment was more sulphurous.

Barden's action could carry wide-ranging implications. It could recast the future course of education, labor and civil rights legislation in the House. And it could well mean a split-up of the faction-ridden Education and Labor Committee into two separate groups.

There was talk of Powell head-

Mickey Will Draw Salary While Held

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Dr. George H. Mickey will draw his salary as dean and professor while being held on a murder charge, the Louisiana State University Board of Supervisors said Friday.

Theo Cangelosi, Board Chairman, said "For the time being, under tenure regulations of the university, Dr. Mickey will continue to receive his pay." Mickey has been suspended as dean.

Dr. McMillan's body was found on a rural lane near the Mississippi River south of Baton Rouge Jan. 10.

JAILED

Mickey, 39-year-old father of two grown children, is in the East Baton Rouge Parish jail.

Next term's action in the case could be a defense move for a preliminary hearing or state action to request an early meeting of the grand jury. Neither move has been announced.

The grand jury is scheduled to meet Feb. 16, but Dist. Atty. J. St. Clair Fayot has suggested a special session may be possible.

The defense has declined to reveal whether it intends to ask a preliminary hearing. Such a move would have to come before an indictment.

Dr. McMillan's will was filed in New Orleans Friday and Mickey was among her beneficiaries. Oh-

Florida Shivers During Bitter Winter Attack

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Most of the nation was gripped in bitter cold Friday, an air mass that inflicted heavy damage on the multimillion-dollar vegetable crop in Florida.

Temperatures dropped into the mid-20s in many farming areas of Florida early Friday and forecasters held little hope for anything but continuing freezing or frost in the Sunshine State overnight and Saturday.

The citrus crop escaped serious damage.

KEYS

Only the tropical Florida Keys escaped the icy air wave from Canada.

During the night the mercury dipped to 19 degrees at Gainesville.

The Weather Bureau said a slight warming trend was on the way and should be felt by Saturday from the Rockies into the north and central plains. However, cold weather will remain from the southern plains and the Mississippi Valley eastward.

Noon readings Friday remained below zero over the northern plains with Williston, N.D., recording a -4. The freezing line stretched from North Carolina into southwestern Texas.

Over the Rockies temperatures ranged from the sub-teens in the north to the 20s in the central portion to the 40s in the extreme south. The 40s and 50s appeared near the Gulf and the West Coast. Snow flurries fell from New England to the Appalachians, into the Great Lakes region and Illinois as well as from Montana into the central plateau area.

Intermittent rain or showers continued near the West Coast from California into Washington

Search Pushed For 3 Feared Buried In Car

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Work crews drilled beneath a highway Friday in a grim search for three men feared slain in 1956 and buried in their car in a dirt and asphalt grave while the road was being built.

Public Safety Director Floyd Mann ordered the probing operations continued until the car is located beneath the roadbed near Birmingham, or until state investigators are convinced it isn't there.

DRILLS

If the drills strike metal, Mann said Highway Department workmen will go into the roadway with heavy earth-moving equipment.

The disappearance of Billy Howard Dye, 19; his brother, Robert Earl Dye, 23, and their cousin, Dan Brasker, 38, on March 4, 1956, was almost forgotten until Mann got a tip last week from Police Chief Tommy Ward of Fairfield, a Birmingham suburb.

Ward said he had information that the missing men were killed at the site of the road while it was under construction and their bodies and the car buried beneath the roadbed.

State investigators and Highway Department specialists pinpointed the area where the car might be found by checking progress reports on the road-building project. Drilling started Thursday.

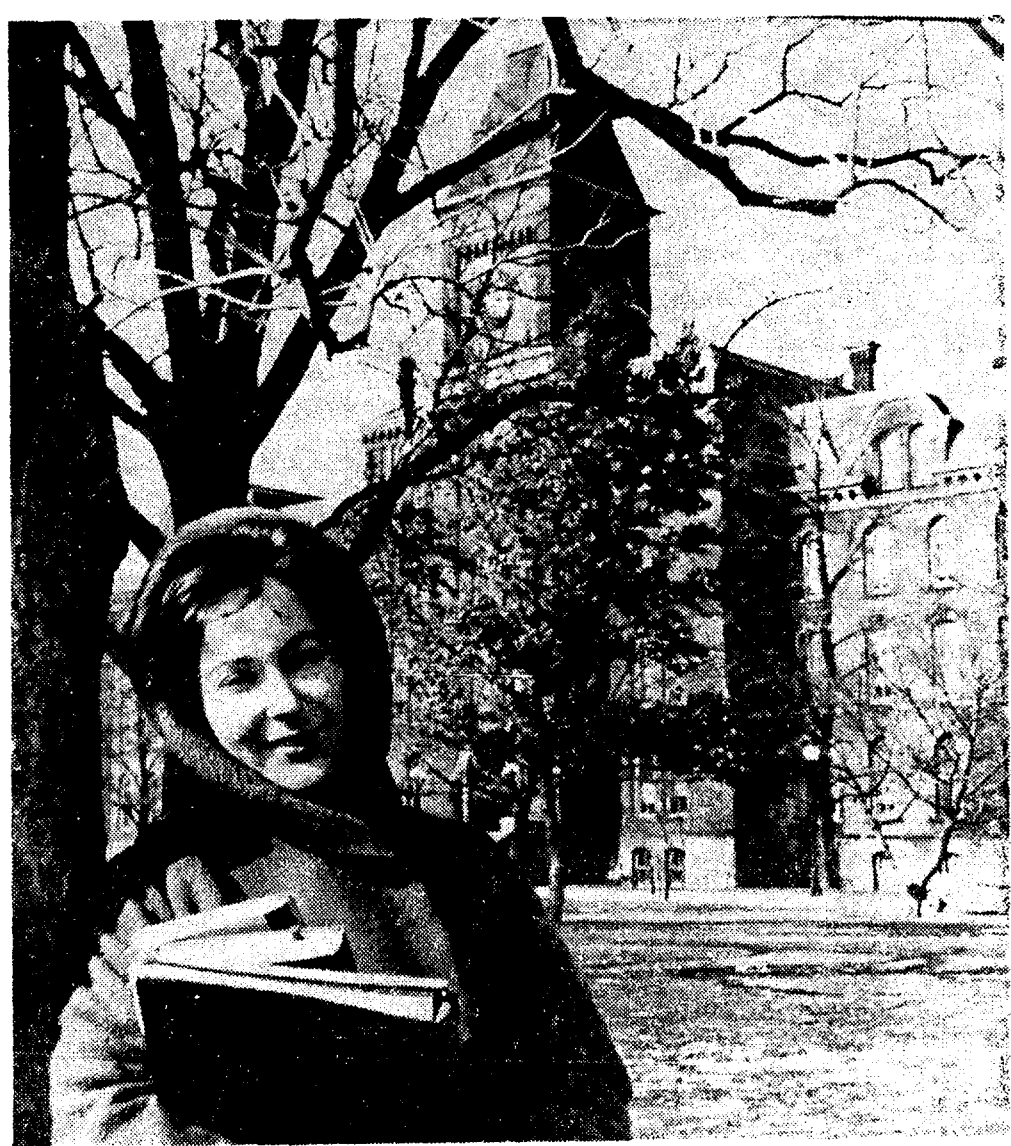

The Dye brothers, who lived at Fullondale, a community north of

Restoration Of Voters' List Urged

WASHINGTON (Special) — The Justice Department urged the Supreme Court Friday to restore 1,277 Washington parish Negroes to the registration lists in time for Louisiana's April 9 general election.

In a surprise action, the department told the court "there are no reasons why the district court's decree (restoring the Negro registrations) should not be stayed pending appeal."

The Negroes' names were stricken from the parish balloting lists during a so-called "purge" of registrations. Federal district Judge Skelly Wright ruled there was evidence of discrimination and ordered the stricken names restored.

APPEAL

Louisiana attorney General Jack P. F. Grevillion appealed to the fifth circuit court of appeals Jan. 15 for a stay of Wright's ruling until the appellate court could consider the case on its merits. The circuit tribunal granted the stay Thursday.

If the supreme court grants the departments motion, the Negroes will be entitled to vote at least until the circuit court rules in the case.

"The public interest clearly requires that citizens found to have been disenfranchised unconstitutionally because of their race or color be permitted to remain on the registration rolls pending appellate review," the department said.

The department asked the sup-

Summit Meet Approach Told

LONDON (UPI) — Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev will pick up the Berlin issue at next spring's summit meeting exactly where his foreign minister left off at deadlock talks last May, Communist diplomats said Friday.

While the Western powers pondered a joint approach to the issue, the Communists made it clear that Khrushchev still stands by his basic demand: the Allies must get out of West Berlin and permit the city to be turned into a "free, demilitarized zone."

The diplomats said Khrushchev would insist on a Berlin settlement as the first order of business at the summit meeting in Paris May 16.

U.S. Officials Get Cuban Fire

HAVANA (AP) — President Eisenhower and U. S. Ambassador Philip W. Bonsai drew Cuban fire Friday in a bitter editorial on the Cuban-Spanish diplomatic crisis. The editorial suggested that all traitors and scoundrels leave Cuba.

Bonsai was accused by the semi official newspaper Revolution of shamefully backing Spanish Ambassador Juan Pablo Lojendio, expelled for interrupting a TV attack by Prime Minister Fidel Castro on Spain and the United States.

President Eisenhower's Madrid meeting with Generalissimo Francisco Franco a month ago—one stop on the Eisenhower 11-nation goodwill tour—was called ill-timed and worse.

The front-page blast came on the eve of Bonsai's departure for Washington consultations that may amount to his recall until there is a distinct change in relations between the United States and Castro's government.

Lojendio left for Madrid by way of New York Friday morning, boarding a plane a few minutes after the expiration of the 24 hours Castro had given him to get out of the country. Armed Cuban soldiers escorted him through an airport crowd that jeered and shouted "Out! Out!" He smiled and waved.

"What an inconceivable alliance!"

No Evidence Of Sabotage In Air Found

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An autopsy on the body of New York attorney Julian Frank, killed in a North Carolina airliner crash Jan. 6, shows no evidence so far that the plane was destroyed by "willful means," it was learned Friday.

Informed sources told United Press International the continuing autopsy has produced no evidence so far of powder burns on the body from dynamite or any other explosive.

It was emphasized these tentative conclusions could be changed by microscopic examination of parts of Frank's body and of the plane. But UPI sources said no conclusive evidence of a man-made explosion has been found yet.

CRASH

The New York-to-Miami National Airlines DC-6B crashed near Bolivia, N.C., killing 31 persons. The Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) and FBI have not yet determined the cause.

The investigators have been looking into the possibility that Frank, who was insured for nearly $900,000, carried a bomb aboard the plane which blew up the airliner. Frank was reported to be under investigation for some financial deals.

The North Carolina crash was one of a recent series of air tragedies which has brought demands for drastic action.

However, Sen. Barry M. Goldwater (R-Ariz.), a licensed jet pilot and a flier for 20 years, spoke out Friday against a suggestion that the government consider grounding all commercial aircraft temporarily for thorough checking. The idea was advanced by Sen. Vance Hartke (D-Ind.).

Hearing Set On New Bridge

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Highway departments of Louisiana and Mississippi will hold a hearing at Vicksburg, Miss., Feb. 16 on location plans for the proposed Interstate Rt. 20 highway bridge across the Mississippi River.

The proposed bridge will be between Vicksburg and Delta Point, La., about 265 feet south of the U.S. Highway 80 bridge.

R. B. Richardson, Louisiana highway director, said the construction, will be supervised by the highway departments of both states. The U.S. Bureau of Public Roads will concur in its financing.

New York Shark To Take Jet Ride

NEW YORK (AP) — A local shark is going to make shark history one of these days. He is going to take the first shark plane ride by jet, too.

Shipping sharks is no easy job. Take it from the Coney Island Aquarium. Mean as they are they just don't like to travel. They need proper water, correct amounts of oxygen and room to move around. When they don't get what they want, they die.

The aquarium has a rambunctious four-footer about a year old, a sand-tiger shark caught off Sandy Hook, N.J. To repay a favor, the aquarium wants to send him to Steinhart Aquarium in San Francisco.

Aquarium Director Christopher W. Coates and an assistant, Dr.

Carlson Ray, set about devising ways to send him by plane. They rigged up a huge plastic bag/Atank to hold saltwater, compressed oxygen and chemicals to remove carbon dioxide from the water.

Thursday, with careful handling to keep out of range of his mouth full of big, sharp teeth, the aquarium people dumped him in the travel tank for a tryout. At 4 a.m. Friday, Dr. Ray was routed out of bed at his home. An alarmed aquarium attendant reported that the shark was turning over instead of swimming upright—A bad sign.

Dr. Ray rushed to the aquarium and found that things weren't as bad as feared. The shark was turning, all right, and appeared a

May Require Week To Get To Workers

COALBROOK, South Africa (AP) — Fresh rescue teams were rushed in Friday night in an all-out effort to reach 400 Africans and six white coal miners trapped 600 feet underground by a massive rock fall.

But the deadly gas pockets, rising water levels and more rock slides brought new threats to the trapped men and rescue workers. "We will be lucky if we break through to where the men are entombed in a week," said one rescue worker as he emerged.

REPORTS

An unconfirmed report said mine officials had started drilling holes in six excavations in the hope of making contact with the miners. Officials of the mine company and department of mines said, however, all attempts to reach the men so far had failed.

The giant rock fall occurred Thursday night.

The new rescue crews were brought in from Witwatersrand and the Orange Free State to join other teams that had toiled through the day.

The fall of rock appears to be about three-quarters of a mile from the shaft, a rescue crewman reported. "Conditions underground are grim."

"We had no lights except our headlamps to work with. The main lighting system has been destroyed by the rock fall. Teams found methane gas so dense this afternoon they could not even reach the beginning of the fall."

Another worker said the water level was rising in parts of the tunnel where crews were trying to clear the rock fall. He said the water in some places now measured six feet, only three feet from the tunnel ceiling.

Trapped with the miners were 70 horses.

An official statement said the accident was caused by "extensive subsidence which disrupted ventilation and caused many sub-

Civil Rights Supporters Release Names

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Supporters of civil rights legislation Friday released a hitherto secret list of 15 House members who have signed a petition to force an early House vote on a long-stalled rights bill.

The list included 145 Democrats and 30 Republicans. A total of 219 signatures are required under house rules before the bill can be pried out of the conservative-controlled House Rules Committee and brought to the floor for action.

The published list showed that the civil rights bloc was still short 44 signatures on their petition.

RELEASE

Release of the list was designed to bring pressure on House members who have not yet signed.

The list included members from 36 of the 50 states. States not represented were Alabama; Arkansas, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, Oklahoma.

Justice Department attorneys began the case last June 29 when they filed charges against parish registrar Curtis M. Thomas, the parish citizens council, and four individual members of the council.

Besides requesting the stay, Louisiana attorneys have appealed Wright's decision on grounds that the civil rights act of 1957, under which the charges were filed, is unconstitutional.

The Supreme Court is also considering its decision in another Louisiana case testing the validity of the 1957 act.

The second case will determine whether the civil rights commission, a separate agency from the Justice Department had the right to summon 17 north Louisiana registrars to a public hearing in Shreveport last July 13.

A three-judge federal court voided the proposed hearing unless the registrars were given opportunity to confront and cross-examine witnesses who testified against them.

OUTLOOK

The Weather Bureau held out hopes for a warming trend in the Ark-La-Miss beginning Sunday. It issued an extended forecast which extended from 6 p.m. Friday through Jan. 27, calling for temperatures four to eight degrees below normal. Normal lows are 25 to 30 and normal highs are 43 to 64. Little or no precipitation is expected.

Family and neighbors of Mrs. Nash said that the elderly woman was a semi-invalid, having suffered a broken hip some years back. She utilized a walking cane for walking.

It was theorized that she had gotten close to the heater to keep warm in the near-freezing temperatures which were hovering around 37-40 degrees at 10 a.m., time of the accident.

CHARRED

Most of her hair was burned off and her dress was charred. Burns extended the length of her body, the family said.

Funeral services for Mrs. Nash, a member of the Fellowship Baptist Church and longtime resident of the Jonesboro area, are scheduled for 3 p.m. Sunday with the Rev. D. B. Tullios and the Rev. Jesse Smith officiating.

Following services, which will be held at the Fellowship Baptist Church, burial will be in the church cemetery under direction of Congers Funeral Home of Arcadia.

Survivors are her husband, three daughters, Mrs. Betty New, Sarepta; Mrs. Ora Rider, North Hodge; and Mrs. May Heyse, North Hodge; a son, W. T. Gresham, Jonesboro; 17 grandchildren and a number of great grandchildren.

The body will lie in state at Edmonds Funeral Home in Jonesboro until time for services. Mrs. Nash's husband is a retired farmer.

Neighbors said a sofa in the room where Mrs. Nash was burned, was blackened by fire. The cold front moved in Jan. 15, and since that date, four days have shown below freezing temperatures, with the lows for the entire period hovering near the 32 degree mark.

The temperature high dropped to 34 on the 15th and has been below that mark every day since. Cutrer gave these tips on avoiding fires:

1. Avoid getting too close to heaters, especially while wearing loose clothing.
2. Keep clothes and rags away from heating systems.
3. Don't leave food to warm on stoves for long periods of time.
4. Avoid hanging curtains over or near heaters.
5. Keep chairs and furniture safe distance from heaters.
6. Keep floor furnaces clean.

CAUTION

Cutrer mentioned that certain types of clothing may catch fire from spontaneous combustion if a person stands too close to a flame although direct contact is avoided. Cutrer said carelessness with heaters is the prime factor in most home fires during the winter months.

ing one committee limited to labor matters, and Rep. Cleveland M. Bailey (D-W.Va.) heading an education committee. Both Barden and Bailey said they favored splitting the committee in two.

Powell said in New York that if he became committee chairman he would "establish a climate and opportunity for the will of the majority to operate at all times."

As things stand, now, he added at a news conference, "it is hard for the will of the majority to operate if it is in opposition to Mr. Barden's views."

Powell said that while he and Barden had differed on nearly everything "it may come as a surprise to some that we have been friends through the years." Powell termed Barden an outspoken Southern conservative but "honest in his views."

In making known his plans to newsmen, the 63-year-old Barden said his decision was irrevocable and was made for personal reasons.

After 28 years in Congress, Barden said he wanted to enjoy his home on the Trent River near New Bern, N.C., and be with his family. "My wife is not happy here, and my duties are becoming more and more exacting," he said.

The big, bluff North Carolinian has long enjoyed the reputation of being a shrewd and skilled committee chairman.

With the help of Southern conservatives and Republicans the Labor and Education Committee has performed pretty much as Barden wanted it.

He has opposed any federal controls over education, and with equal resolution he has backed curbs over labor-management abuses.

sidary falls of the roof." The statement was issued by Clydesdale (Transvaal) Collieries Ltd., owners of the mine.

It is the worst mining disaster in the history of South Africa and surpassed only by the loss of 1,549 men in a Manchurian mine in 1942.

Reports that contact with the trapped men had been established during the day were officially denied.

Rescue work is hampered by the presence of pockets of methane and carbon monoxide gases. Rescue teams are using oxygen breathing apparatus, carrying canaries to detect gas and a ventilation fan has been restarted near the roof fall, enabling operators to work from a fresh air base.

The last miner to emerge alive from the mine Thursday after the rockfall was Hungarian filter Louie Nagy, 24, who came to South Africa three years ago. He crawled up a 2,000-foot incline almost at the end of his tether, staggering and crawling through coal dust fumes.

"I hardly knew what I was doing or where I was going, I can still barely remember how it started."

Friday Nagy joined rescue workers at the mine.

Four white miners who were in the northern section of the mine narrowly escaped death when the cave-in occurred. One, G. S. Vandermere gave the following report:

"At about 7:30 p.m. we tested for gas and realized that something was wrong. The meter indicated that gas in the mine was rising rapidly. The mine captain told us to get out, but warned us not to run."

"I started walking. Next moment there was a tremendous blast of wind through the tunnel. I grabbed a pole and hung on with all my strength. When everything had settled down again I found myself alone. Around me was chaos. My eyes and mouth were full of sand and I could hardly see."

Vandermere continued that he then walked out of the tunnel, littered with rocks, beams and steel, and found his companions on the surface—alive.

One rescue worker returning to the surface Friday morning said: "It's sheer hell down there. While we work to clear the rubble we hear the roof creaking. Every falling stone sounds like a thunder clap—and all the time you know full well that you, lives are hanging by a thread."

Rescue men came to the surface and shook their heads wearily. As truck loads of silent African helpers arrived at the pithead they were met by other trucks carrying haggard grimy friends back to the living quarters.

Relatives stood huddled at the pithead. Ministers moved among weeping women and children and led them in prayer.

One of Dr. McMillan's associates, who asked not to be identified, said Friday Dr. McMillan was visited shortly before Christmas by a woman from Chicago known only as "Jane." The visit lasted a week during which Dr. McMillan invited some friends to meet her guest.

The associate also said Dr. McMillan never referred to Dr. Mickey "except in an academic vein."

"She never discussed her personal life much," the associate said.

choose their future government themselves.

A sharply worded communique issued from De Gaulle's office said: "The policy of France was fixed without ambiguity by Gen. De Gaulle on Sept. 16, 1959, adopted by the government and approved by Parliament. This policy has essentially as its object to insure, after pacification and a necessary period for restoring order and recovery, a free choice for the Algerians—the only issue of this long crisis which is worthy of France. It should be clearly understood that this decision will not be diverted from its course."

The communique made only two concessions to the angry French settlers of Algeria. It affirmed there would be no political negotiations with the rebels and promised speedier legal methods to repress growing terrorism.

A second communique said the 69-year-old De Gaulle will visit Algeria again on Feb. 5 to make personal contact with "the army, administration and elected representatives of the people." The president will make a TV-radio address Jan. 29 to explain his policies and the dismissal of Massu appeared certain to further steam up the French residents of Algeria. In addition to the action against Massu, they have this week seen one of their most popular political leaders barred from the country.

Former Premier Georges Bidault was kept out of Algeria under the government's emergency powers.

In Algiers, the French command announced fighting between French troops and nationalist rebels has increased sharply in the past 48 hours.

Search Pushed For 3 Feared Buried In Car

Birmingham, and Brasher, a resident of Morris, Ala., vanished after leaving the home of Brasher's mother, Mrs. Bessie Brasher.

They left behind some $85 in unclaimed wages earned while working—ironically—on another highway construction project. No trace has been found of the men or the 1947 model car in which they were last seen.

Russians' Imagination

Russians have proposed so many monumental projects that might be accomplished with money saved by reducing the armies of the world that an Associated Press story out of Moscow says:

"Soviet writers are letting their imaginations run wild inventing ways to spend the vast sums now used to support the world's armies."

"At the same time the press emphasizes that Premier Nikita Khrushchev's plans to cut Russian army forces by 1,200,000 men in the next two years will still leave the Soviet Union with military might at least equal to that of any other country. The supreme Soviet, or parliament, approved the plan last week and called on their countries to do likewise."

One plan offered recently by Russian scientists, if carried out, would be catastrophic for Louisiana and some other areas with altitudes not far above sea level. The proposal was to make the northern half of the world warmer by melting the polar ice-cap. Scientists of other nations later said melting the polar ice-cap would raise the ocean levels about 100 feet. If true, this would leave Louisiana mostly submerged in ocean water, since a large part of it has an altitude of around 80 feet or less. Some other proposals by the Russians might be equally disastrous. Some might have contradictory effects.

Nevertheless, some of the Russian suggestions have such staggering implications that they may well cause us to wonder if the Russian scientists are running ahead of ours in imagination - one of the most important elements of scientific progress. We need to review such imagination as this in order to renew our own imagination.

Whether true or not, Trud, Russian trade union newspaper, says that with the money saved by armed force reduction the world could:

Build a round-the-world railroad connecting New York, Moscow and London by way of tunnels under Bering strait and the English channel, with branch lines to Red China and through the Himalayas to India.

Change the direction of the gulf stream in the Atlantic to warm northern Europe and northern America.

Dam Bering strait to permit the moving of warm Pacific waters into the Arctic to warm northern Canada, Alaska and Siberia to make them more habitable and to make the Arctic seas navigable.

Tow huge ice masses from the Arctic and Antarctic to where they could be melted to water areas in North and South America.

Moderate the climate of the Sahara by digging tunnels to run subterranean water into sub-sea levels such as the Qatara depression of western Egypt.

Dig a hole 10 miles deep to study the earth's structure.

Spend three to four billion dollars controlling the Congo, building dams and making lakes to industrialize the country and improve the climate.

Dig an elaborate canal system connecting the rivers of South America.

Build huge dams at the Dardanelles and Gibraltar to lower the Mediterranean's level by about 300 feet, creating new land equal to the area of France and providing immense power sources.

"Some of these ideas might be disapproved," the article said, "but in a world free from military danger scientists can make great strides, since they will not be occupied with inventing means of mass annihilation."

Anti-Poll Tax Bill

Co-sponsored by 23 senators, a bill has been introduced in the senate which would eliminate poll taxes and other economic qualifications for voting in national elections in a dozen states.

It would replace a proposal introduced last year which calls for the adoption of a constitutional amendment abolishing the poll tax.

The measure would apply about equally to northern and southern states and, for that reason, does not appear to be aimed at any particular section, although the effect on some southern states might be greater because of the heavier Negro population. Even so, it might not be considered as designed to punish any certain area.

Approval of the bill would kill the poll tax in the five southern states which still have it - Alabama, Arkansas, Mississippi, Texas and Virginia. It would also eliminate other taxes or property qualifications for voting now on the books in Florida, Maine, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Rhode Island, Vermont and South Carolina.

There are a good many reasons for abolishing the poll tax and apparently no valid reason for keeping it. Nevertheless, an act of congress, instead of a constitutional amendment, would short-circuit the voice the states have in the matter. This would seem to make a constitutional amendment preferable, although more time would be required. A constitutional amendment probably could be adopted without much trouble, since only about one-fourth of the states are still clinging to the poll tax or to some sort of property tax as a voting qualification.

About three-fourths of the states have conceded that the poll tax and certain property taxes as voting requirements are unjust and without merit.

There is no reason why a citizen otherwise qualified should be compelled to pay for the right to vote. Voting is an inherent right under our constitution. Certainly the framers of the constitution did not contemplate making a citizen's financial status a factor in his right to vote. Ability to pay a poll tax depends on how much money a citizen has. In fact, the poll tax was designed to prevent the financially poor person from voting and is therefore an affront to our system of equality and justice.

Requiring a person to own property before he can vote is no more unjust than the poll tax but it is more ridiculous. Some of the biggest and some of the most responsible businessmen prefer not to own property. They have a right to exercise the choice of owning or renting and that choice has no bearing on their intelligence or voting ability. Some of our best and most trustworthy citizens do not own property because they are not financially able to do so. Yet, they are intelligent, worthy and desirable citizens and are competent to vote.

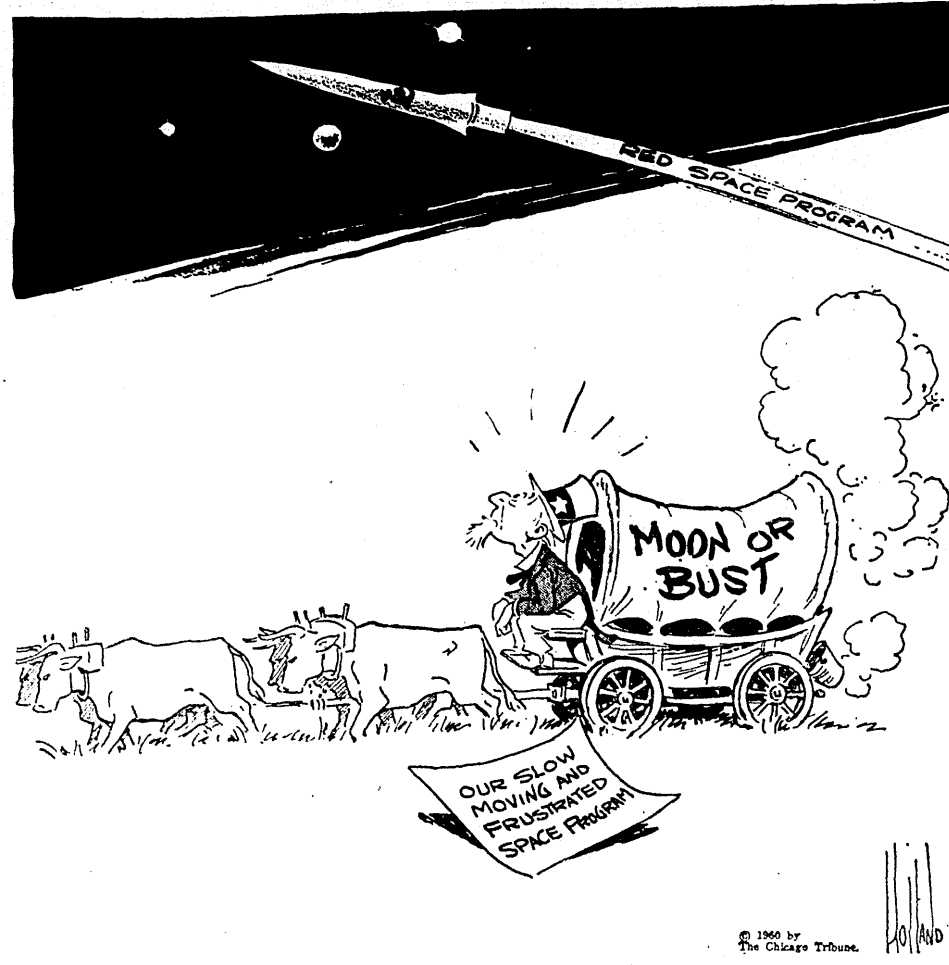

People argue over whether voting is a right or a privilege. Surely it is a privilege and one that should be exercised but it is also a right.

Louisiana was among the earlier states to abandon the poll tax, which it did about a third of a century ago.

Those who believe in states' rights, as we do, may question the right of congress to force states to abandon the poll tax. If so, a constitutional amendment would seem to be the answer. Such an amendment would require a two-thirds approval by both the senate and the house and subsequent approval by three-fourths of the states. This would not infringe on states' rights.

The National Education Association says that 83 per cent of the colleges and universities in the United States have trouble finding qualified science teachers.

The Pioneers

GEORGE SOKOLSKY

South Is Being Scourged

Negro Political Problem In North May Be Lessened Because They Are Going Into Both Parties

In a presidential campaign, every issue counts. The Negro question will be of importance because so many Negroes live in telling states, such as New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois and California. On the other hand, what has for many years been called the Negro Problem is not as pressing in 1960 as it has been during the past two decades.

In the South, the Negro question is one of social integration; in the North, it is fast becoming a matter of political control. In New York City, the Negroes and the Puerto Ricans can hold the political balance of power and can exert an enormous economic pressure upon the community. In recent years, the Negro vote was well organized and was generally Democratic; that is not likely to be so in 1960. The northern Negro, it may be assumed, will be influential in both political parties.

"The Case for the South," by William D. Workman Jr., puts the problem in two paragraphs better than I have seen it anywhere else. He says:

"The South is being scourged by four pestilential forces which impose an almost intolerable burden upon Americans who cherish state sovereignty, constitutional government, and racial integrity. On the one hand are these three: the Supreme Court of the United States, which has wrought havoc in its injudicious effort to play at sociology; the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, which has recklessly undertaken to achieve race-mixing by pressure; and the northern politicians and propagandists who pervert small truths into big lies as they purvey vilification and ignorance on a grand scale. On the other hand is the Ku Klux Klan with its unlovely cohorts who substitute muscle and meanness for the intellect which by rights must be the defense of the South."

"The man in the middle is the one whose voice needs to be heard, for too long has his quiet but determined resistance to tyranny from either side been unheralded and unexplained."

One who lives in the North and who has only seen the South on casual visits discusses this problem from the standpoint of whatever his bias may be. So much has been written about the South and the Negro that it is obviously incorrect that it becomes increasingly difficult for one who is not adjusted to a southern environment to form an accurate judgment from the data.

As one travels about the South, it would appear on the surface that the southern Negro lives under physical circumstances there that are superior to those in the Harlem district of New York City or in the Bedford-Stuyvesant district of Brooklyn. In the North, the Negro is segregated physically and socially and although there are no signs, "For Whites Only," the practical application exists in many areas, but decreasingly so.

Negroes of means are moving into better buildings and there is a degree of intermarriage. In the South, intermarriage raises a very serious problem; in the North, particularly among the richer Negroes, it is not so unusual. Social equality never can exist without intermarriage and therefore while the problems of political and economic equality can be solved more readily than heretofore, social equality, not only of Negro and white, but of Jew and Christian or Protestant and Catholic, involves numerous inherited obstacles.

Workman quotes Professor E. Franklin Frazier of Howard University as follows:

"Even in the United States, where the mixing of whites and Negroes slowed down after emancipation, the urbanization of the Negro and his rise in economic and social status are accelerating racial mixture. The absorption of the Negro will scarcely change the physical character of the population but the cultural influence of the Negro, especially in music, has left its imprint on the new American culture that is evolving."

Intermarriage always involves serious considerations. When no social pressures or rigid laws exist against intermarriage of one people with another, such marriages are bound to take place. This has been true all over the world. Chinese, Japanese, and Hindus marry Caucasians, as whites are called among them. Hawaii is producing an entirely new race out of such a mixture, in which must also be included the remains of the native Kanakas.

This is too broad a subject to consider here now. William D. Workman Jr., a southern newspaperman, discusses it with more objectivity than one would expect in "The Case for the South," an able study.

SYLVIA PORTER

Steel 'Package'

Chances Are Cost-Of-Living Adjustments Will Not Come

Among the headlined gains the steelworkers won in their contract is a clause under which they can get as much as 6 cents an hour extra in cost-of-living adjustments late this year and next.

The chances that the steelworkers will get this 6 cents - even if the general price level rises substantially - are next to zero.

It's more likely that they'll get 6-10 of a cent on hour than 6 cents. They may get nothing at all - even though, I repeat, the general price level climbs sharply.

The agreement to accept a ceiling on what cost-of-living adjustments the workers can get during the term of the contract was one of the most significant concessions made by the steel union.

The winning of this ceiling and also of the equivalent of a "cost-of-living adjustment" for themselves ranks as one of the most significant victories of the steel companies.

Because of the cost-of-living angles, it could be that the spendable "package" won by the steelworkers will turn out markedly smaller than they anticipate by the time the contract ends.

Certainly the steel contract has eliminated a great deal of the zip from the cost-of-living adjustment clause. The escalator isn't going to be running only steeply upward from now on - and, if the steel pattern spreads to other major contracts, one force behind the rising price level in recent years will be perceptibly weakened.

The more the union leaders examine the cost-of-living compromise in the steel agreement, the less enthusiastic they become about it. This is a gain with a "hooker" in it.

All of us should get the facts straight too. Cost-of-living adjustments have helped spur the leap-frogging of wages and prices in the past - but they can't get the blame for any leap-frogging in steel this time.

The following simple analysis will show you what I mean.

One great victory the union won was that, as of Jan. 1, the companies are paying all the insurance premiums for the workers. No longer will a steel employee share in the costs of his hospitalization, sickness, accident, etc., insurance; the company will pay the entire bill. This is working out to an average hike in the take-home pay of the steelworkers of 6.39 cents an hour, less tax.

The steelworkers also obtained a clause saying that if and as the consumer price level increases, they're entitled to a cost-of-living adjustment of no more than 3 cents on Dec. 1, 1960, and another adjustment on Oct. 1, 1961 - provided the total of both adjustments doesn't come to more than 6 cents.

But now comes the hooker. Since the companies are taking over all insurance costs, they argued - successfully - that they should get "relief" if these costs go up. In a sense, they are being protected against a climbing cost of living too, for any rise in insurance costs will eat into cost-of-living benefits to which the workers are entitled.

Will the companies' insurance costs rise?

It's about as sure a forecast as you could make.

When the dates arrive for figuring what cost-of-living adjustments are owed the steelworkers, that 6 cents maximum is going to shrink. The 6-10 of a cent estimate actually is the companies' own.

The union isn't likely to boast about it, but in a way the steelworkers will still be paying for their insurance via smaller cost-of-living adjustments than they otherwise might receive.

The companies aren't likely to underplay their generosity at this point, but they'll not be giving away nearly as much in cash to the workers as has been reported.

The implications of a steel price hike against today's economic background and world competition could be explosive. Let there be no misunderstanding or exaggeration of what steel gave and the union got.

THE height of happiness is not... In worldly wealth or fame... Or having expert prowess in... A contest or a game... It is not in the wisdom great... That may be ours to hold... Or in the rainbow bidding us... To find the pot of gold... The apex of our joy in life... Is when we strive to do... Our very best to honor God... And in all things be true... To love our neighbors as ourselves... And then a little more... To help them reach the worthy goals... That they are striving for... The ultimate on earth is to... Receive God's sweet caress... HOLMES ALEXANDER

People Different

Boys Are Not Girls And Negroes Are Not White People

WASHINGTON, D. C. - To Mrs. M. P., Philadelphia, Penna.: You are an American Negro and are "proud of it". You say you don't like it when I write with the implication that there is a difference between races, just as between left and right, rich and poor, boys and girls.

But most of the world's troubles, and nearly all the nonsense written and spoken by social equalizers, spring from a daft determination to rationalize these differences, these barriers, out of existence. It is the Totalitarians who preach that we should become - All One.

No matter how it irks us, ethnic origins, ideologies, money and sex do set persons apart. To refuse to accept this plain fact is to gnash at the chains of nature. On the other hand to accept the natural law is to prosper and rejoice in it.

The happiest political experiment of our mid-century is Israel - a nation based on race and religion. Virtually all of the original 13 States had their beginning in ideology. Scott Fitzgerald used to write with great success on the theme that the very rich are "different" - and how true! And as a veteran of matrimony, like myself, you needn't be told that men and women are importantly unlike in mind, body and sensitivity.

Since you've raised the point, I believe that the future and prestige of the Negro race is to assert pride in its origins, to stop imitating white folks, to establish a culture, a literature and, possibly, a homeland. Every race needs its Moses.

To W. J. D. B., Pittsburgh, Penna.: You and numerous others have written, both pro and con, about my piece calling for "ruthlessness" in asserting our world policies. It is not, of be ruthless, but our assertion of course, the policies which should them. The tendency of American leaders to fall back upon moral and even legal arguments about who owns the moon, the Antarctic continent, and the skyways of the Pacific Ocean are recent examples of the faint heart which will never win anything - not even an argument with the enemy.

In the past few days I have heard both our Commander in Chief and the Chief of Staff of the Air Force find moralistic and legalistic reasons why it's all right for Russia to shoot missiles across the stern of our new State of Hawaii. If anybody should ask, "Is it our sea?" I would like to hear the American answer be - "Darned right! It was bought with American blood and conquest!"

If you think that we can have "peace" by soft-talk or by pacifism, I have an opposite opinion - but don't take my word for it. In considering what Sino-Russian Communism would ask if we preferred not to fight, Oskar Morgenstern in "The Question of National Defense" gives this summary:

"The Government would then go over into the hands of Communist trustees; the well-trained, obedient underdog would take over. The inhabitants of our slums would move into the penthouses... Perhaps 100 million or 200 million Chinese would move to this country... Our factories would produce 'reparations' for the rest of the world... Or perhaps the new masters would find it better to dismantle factories and ship them to the underdeveloped countries of Asia and Africa... this country could be organized according to some new 'Morgenthau plan for food production only'."

A "ruthless" policy, even if it means fighting, is the order of our day in the world's history. "As horrible as is the risk of nuclear war," says Dr. Morgenstern, "it would take a man with great power of illusion to see an acceptable alternative in surrender, and to see surrender in a better light than death."

To Hon. John F. Kennedy, Senate Office Building: In your coming-out party for the Democratic nomination, you mentioned your attitude toward the defense of Matsu and Quemoy in the Formosa Strait. In the current biography by Prof. Burns, you give a direct quotation on this subject: "We should make decisions now about vacating Quemoy and Matsu, which are indefensible and which provide a needless irritant that could drag us into a struggle with Red China, a struggle in which we would be isolated by world opinion." Oh, Senator, say it isn't so Bunker Hill was "indefensible" if you want to be technical, but should it have been "vacated" without a fight? Are you for appeasing Red China by removing whatever "irritant" can be removed by surrender? What surer way is there to be "isolated by world opinion" than to surrender territory and people to the Communists?

DR. PETER J. STEINCROHN

Sighing All Right

75-Year-Old Man In Good Health Is Puzzled By Change

"Dear Dr. Steincrohn: I wonder what sighing means. I have been doing that for a couple of weeks and am puzzled. It's new to me."

"I am 75 years old, weigh 140 pounds and am five-foot three. Am apparently in excellent health. No pain. No problems, no worries, no troubles. My life is well balanced. Would you tell me if there is any danger Mr. L., Miami, Fla."

ANSWER: In love, maybe? Or, sighing for the good old days? What I am trying to say without being facetious is this: There is no danger. Considering what you tell me about yourself, you are a fortunate man.

PENICILLIN FOR HEART MURMUR

Writes Mrs. C. K. of Indiana: "A few weeks ago our family doctor discovered our 7 1/2-year-old son has a heart murmur. He prescribed penicillin for him. He says Bobby will have to take it every day for several years. Will it harm him?"

ANSWER: No. It will help him. In heart disease due to rheumatic fever or congenital valve trouble we give antibiotics like penicillin (sometimes the sulfa drugs) to prevent another attack or infection from weakening the heart.

HEALTHY, BUT TOO THIN "I am too thin," writes Mrs. S. Hackensack, N. J., "although I eat lots of fattening foods such as cakes, whipped cream, etc. Yet I cannot put on one pound."

"My own doctor told me not to worry. I'm healthy, he says. I smoke a pack a day, am married and have a 2-month-old son. Do you think I will gain if I stop smoking?"

ANSWER: I think you smoke too much. Cut down (or out) on general principles. If you do, you may begin to put on weight. I have seen it happen. The medical explanation I don't know. Appetite usually improves.

DROP OF CASTOR OIL FOR WARTS

"Dear Dr. Steincrohn: Tell your readers troubled with warts that one drop of castor oil applied twice daily will eventually remove the wart, leaving no scar. It is a slow but positive cure. Mrs. K., Dayton, Ohio."

ANSWER: Thousands of positive wart cures have been handed down through the years. That, in itself, proves there's no such remedy.

But, as I say to people, if it's harmless and works for you, that's all the proof you need. Unfortunately, what helps Joe doesn't always help Moe.

AN IMPROBABILITY "Dear Dr. Steincrohn: I am a widow of 54. I have had no periods for the past three years. If I got married now would I be able to become pregnant? I don't care to raise another family at this age. Is it possible? Mrs. X."

ANSWER: Possible - but very improbable.

Dr. Steincrohn's leaflet S-8, "Hints on How to Overcome Headaches," will be mailed to you on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 10 cents in coin for handling charges. Address your request for the leaflet to Dr. Steincrohn, in care of this paper.

Daily Devotional

One thing have I desired of the Lord... to enquire in His temple... Psalm 27:4.

The man who goes to church with an open mind and heart to "enquire" of the Lord is a man who is likely to be blessed and to find solace and happiness. He does not go to see neighbors and friends, primarily, or to find out what others should do or how they should behave. He goes rather to seek guidance and help for himself that he may have greater knowledge and understanding as to what the Lord requires of him personally. As we approach this next Lord's Day, may we be found "enquiring" in His temple.

Merciful God, help us to see both opportunities and duties in the clear light of Thy Word. In Christ's holy name we pray. Amen.

Lake Parking Area Project Work Started

Work is underway at Cheniere Lake to provide a parking area for summer boating and fishing enthusiasts, and picnickers, according to Police Jury President M. W. Montgomery.

He reported on progress at the Lake yesterday following the second of two inspection trips held this week. Thursday the Jurors eyed roads on the east side of the parish and yesterday they inspected roads in wards 5, 6, and 7.

Parish highway department employees are leveling the ground next to the Lake's first parking site, and smoothing off a section which had been a gravel pit. The gravel country road which leads to the lake also is being smoothed over.

MILEAGE

Taxes obtained from a special mileage approved by voters last year will pay for improvements and "keep at the Lake. The Lake was purchased after a bond issue was ok'd.

"We'll build a cement road all the way around the lake, and some other roads leading in to the lake, starting in the warm weather," Montgomery said.

He hesitated at stating whether the work would be done by the parish or by a contractor.

"It might be cheaper to contract it. Our highway equipment for that type of work is just about gone. The trouble with buying equipment is that we can only use it six months a year, and it rusts out in about two years time. When you use a motor that way, it deteriorates worse when it is setting idle than when it is in use," he said.

Jurors also inspected roads in wards 6, 7 and 5. "We'll decide at our next regular meeting what kind of equipment we are going to buy," the Jury president mentioned.

The jurors looked over a demonstration of paving on the West side of the parish during yesterday's tour.

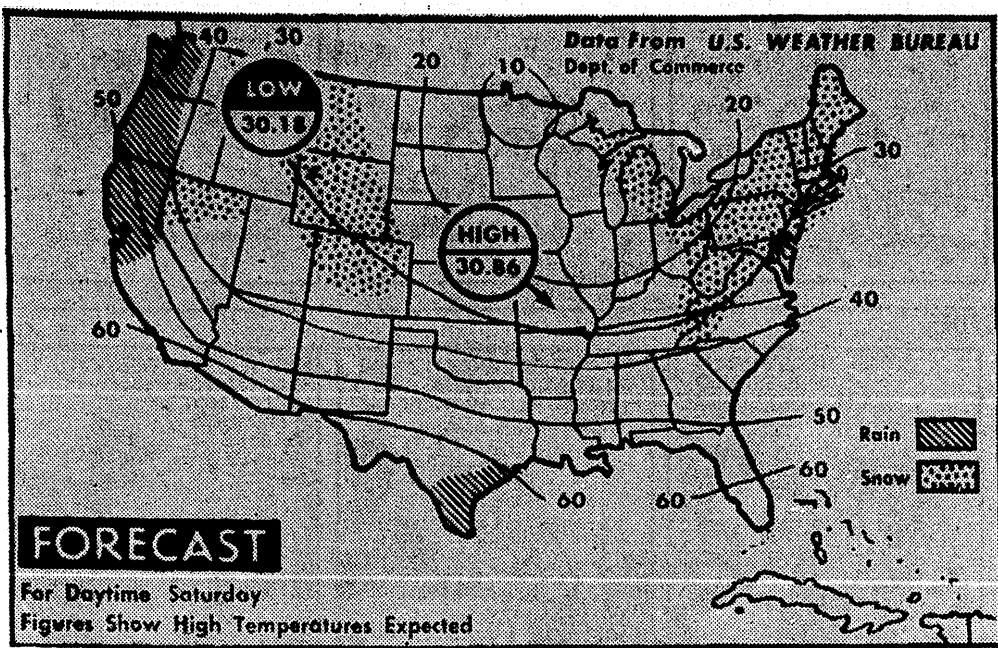

New Well Site Staked In Area

The district office of the State Conservation Department reported one new location in the area Thursday. The Arkansas and Louisiana Gas Company located it. J. W. Russell number one in section 28-18N-1E of the Calhoun field in Ouachita parish. It is located 990 ft. east of the west line and 1800 ft. south of the north line of the section. The plan to drill to a total depth of 9300 ft.

The Washington Senators scored three runs or less in eight games in which pitcher Camilo Pascual started.

WEATHER FORECAST — Snow flurries are expected Saturday in the north-eastern states, Appalachians, Great Lakes and in scattered sections of the north and central Rockies and Great Basin. Rain is due for the northwest and central Pacific regions and southern Texas. A warming trend is forecast for the northern Plains and northern Rockies, with continued cold east of the upper Mississippi valley through the west Gulf area. (AP Wirephoto Map)

IN MONROE

District Court Session Heavy

Otis C. Capers of Mer Rouge was sentenced to 60 days in the Ouachita parish jail for making a false report to the Sheriff's Department, and Jimmie Lee Ladd, Arkansas Negro, drew five years in the penitentiary for burglary in yesterday's Fourth District Court session.

Judge Jesse Heard presided. Capers gave officers a complete description of two men whom he said had robbed him on Saturday, Nov. 6, 1958. Two men fitting the description were jailed from Saturday to Monday when Capers admitted the story was a hoax.

He said he did not want his family to know how much money he had spent, and made up the robbery story.

SENTENCED

Ladd, 32-year-old Pine Bluff, Ark. Negro was sentenced to the state penitentiary at Angola for the March 15, 1959 burglary of Vestal's Grocery and Service Station in Fairbanks.

A Monroe man, John C. Bates Jr., 30, of 5600 DeSiard Rd. was fined $300 and court costs for driving while under the influence of intoxicating alcoholic beverages.

Charles Earl Jones, 18, Route 2, Winnsboro admitted a charge of negligent injury. A passenger in his auto, Bessie Lee Jones, was thrown from the vehicle as it sped across Tony Bauer Road on the levee in West Monroe. He was remanded for sentencing until next Friday.

On charges of driving without a license, Harmon Earl Albritton, 41, 1707 Cole Ave., Wendell Collins, 19, Negro of Route 1, Sterling, Wilbert Givens, 33, Talulah Negro, Woodrow W. Green, 106 S. Farmerville, Ruston, Eddie Ray Moss, 21, Negro, 901 N. Sixth St., West Monroe and Rogers Robertson, 27, 200 N. Eighth St. each was fined $25 and costs or 10 days in the parish jail. Moss also was fined $50 or 20 days for reckless driving.

Sam A. Head, Denton, Tex. forfeited bond when he did not appear on a charge of driving without a license.

CHARGED

Seven men were charged with driving while under the influence of intoxicating alcoholic beverages: Oliver H. Brown, 30, Route 3, Rayville, trial Feb. 12; John Henry Johnson, Negro, 24, 1306 Grammont, trial re-set for Feb. 12; Charles Spears, 23, Route 2, Choudrant, no date set; Mason A. Neathery, continued until April 1; Clifford Ray Stansbury, 603 S. Oak St., charged with second offense, continued to April 1; James E. Viola, 20, Route 1, Monroe, continued to Feb. 29; and William T. Carson, continued without date.

Stansbury also will be tried on a charge of driving after his license was revoked. Viola also is charged with resisting an officer and illegal possession of a central nervous system stimulant. Darnella Carter, 38, Negro of 1219 Grammont St. denied issuing a worthless $16.32 check and trial was set for Feb. 26.

Carrie Thomas Corbin, 37, Negro of 131 Mayberry St., Ruston will be tried Feb. 26 on a charge of resisting an officer and disturbing the peace.

Disturbing the peace charges also were listed against: Max D. Davidson, trial set Feb. 26; Elmer D. Dennis, 39, Keller Street, West Monroe, trial March 18; Charlie Griffin, called on bond; Clifford R. Stansbury, 32, 603 S. Oak St., Rayville, trial April 1; Lawson Bradford, 42, Negro, Route 2, Monroe, trial April 1; Cora Louise Johnson, 21, Negro, 103 Swayze, fined $25 or 10 days. Davidson also will be tried on the same date on charges of unauthorized use of a movable and simple criminal damage to property.

OTHERS

A 69-year-old Sterlington Negro, Solomon Davenport, was fined $50 and costs or 20 days for reckless driving.

Others fined for reckless driving were: Ted L. Grant, 47, Route 4, West Monroe, $25 and costs; Hershel N. Howell, 29, Route 1, West Monroe, $50 and costs; Paul Maxie, 55, Route 1, Frieron, $25 and costs; Alexander Harper, Negro, $35 and costs.

John A. Price, Negro, 44, Fifth Street, Sterlington, will be tried March 11 on a charge of reckless driving, while Lee Thomas will be tried Feb. 12. Charges were dropped against Eugene Brown, Negro; Ather D. Garvan, Mangham, was tried and found innocent.

Mrs. Jewell Frost, 23, 1503 Ammon St., West Monroe pled innocent to three charges of theft, and is slated for trial March 11.

John Henry Johnson, 31, Bastrop Negro, was fined $25 and costs for driving with an improper muffler.

Speeding resulted in a $50 fine for Raymond N. Oglesby, 33, Route 3, Bastrop.

Thomas C. Sanders, 19, Negro of 213 Ninth St. will be tried March 11 on charges of simple obstruction of a highway and driving with defective brakes.

Trial was set for Leon Charles Bowers, 30, Waco, Tex., charged with illegal possession of a central nervous system stimulant, Feb. 12; Meredith Reese, Negro, 4101 Gaston St., March 18 and W. B. Wilson, 21, Negro, Feb. 12, both charged with failure to post bond.

A sanity hearing for Charles M. Spears, 23, Route 2, Choudrant, held in jail on a forgery charge, was postponed until next week.

Herbert A. Fryling, 23, Bellefontaine, Ohio, drew 10 days in jail for vagrancy.

Charges of driving with switched license plates against Otha Thomas, Negro, were dismissed.

OFF IT COMES

LINDEN, N.J. (AP) — You know how hair is. Like Topsy it just grows and grows.

With Felicia Jo Deraska it grew for 12 years — the length of time she's been around — untouched by barber's snippers.

She got a haircut recently. The whole family showed up to watch it.

After it was over, Felicia exclaimed: "It's wonderful!" Says her mother: "The haircut has changed her whole personality."

City Courts

MONROE

Monroe city court saw a light session yesterday with Judge W. M. Harper presiding.

Fred McKnight, whose address was listed as Selman Field received a 60 day compulsory jail sentence, when convicted of theft by check.

In other court action, A. C. Causey, Route 2, Box 349, West Monroe, was found guilty of unauthorized use of moveables. He paid a $200 fine.

In West Monroe City Court, Doyle S. Conville, P. O. Box 146, Hodge was convicted for charges of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicating beverages, and reckless driving. His fine totaled $350.50 or 90 days in jail.

CHARGED

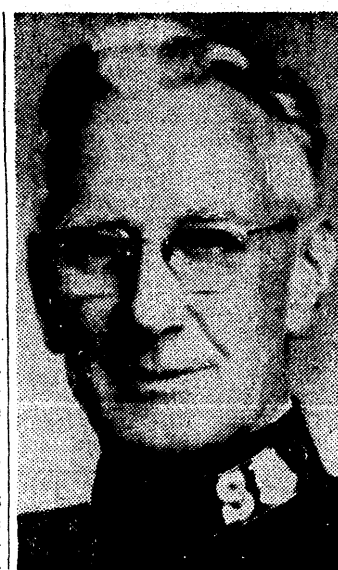

Monroe police last night reported the arrest of a Mangham man who was charged with theft by check. He was identified as Huey P. Schoby, 25-year old Negro, of Rt. 1, Mangham. No bond had been set last night in the case.

Arrest Report Charge In Error

A Monroe man, Leslie J. Carter, 52, 1704 Spencer, was erroneously reported yesterday as having been arrested on a theft by check charge. In actuality, Carter was picked up on a warrant issued by the West Monroe police department when he failed to appear in court to answer a speeding charge.

West Monroe police chief Jeff Caldwell stated yesterday that the charges had been dropped after an investigation determined that an emergency was involved. The error apparently resulted from a mixup of two names on the Monroe police blotter of arrests. The entry preceding Carter's name was for a man who had been arrested on a warrant charging him with two counts of theft by check, and one entry was mistakenly connected with Carter's name.

The Morning World regrets the error.

Army's Board Will Conduct Annual Fete

The Advisory Board of the Salvation Army will hold its annual banquet tonight at 7:30 in the Frances Hotel.

There will be the installation of the new officers for the advisory board and four new members to serve on the board for a three year term.

The highlight of the evening will be the address presented by Colonel P. L. DeBevoise, retired National Secretary of the Salvation Army, stated Major Louis Mocabee, head of the local salvation post.

BACKGROUND

Colonel DeBevoise graduated from Commercial High School in Brooklyn, and served in the Navy in 1910-12. In 1914 he became affiliated with the Salvation Army in Winnipeg, Canada and later entered the Salvation Army College in Toronto, graduating in 1916.

In 1936 he was named State Commander for Iowa and then held similar posts in three other

OF DREDGE WORK

Lake Providence Port Reassured

LAKE PROVIDENCE (Special)

—The Lake Providence Port Commission, consisting of seven members of which C. R. Evans is president, was assured by Senator Russell Long Monday in a telegram that he and Senator Elender with several colleagues had introduced a bill in the Senate authorizing channel dredging work here in behalf of Lake Providence's port.

The wire is as follows: "Pleased to advise you Senator Elender and I, joined by Senators Hennings, Symington, and Fulbright, today introduced a bill authorizing the corps of engineers to provide channel at established harbor areas in the lower Mississippi River. We will push for early consideration by the senate."

The Port, when established, will be located some distance up Hagaman Chute, so as to have a still water. This location is two or three miles below Lake Providence and is one pointed out by the Government Engineers of Vicksburg. The dredging work is calculated to cost some $25,000.00 or more, but if completed by the Government will not cost local people anything. Thus, the bill is crucial.

The local port commission was created August 13, 1938, and ratified by the entire State voters in Amendment 26 voted on in November, 1938.

At this time Ford, Bacon and Davis is making a feasibility report which will be of tremendous benefit in selling bonds and also in attracting prospective customers.

The Commission employed the firm of Ford, Bacon and Davis on a contingent basis. That is, if no port established here, this engineering firm does not charge anything for some $20,000.00 plus worth of preliminary work they will have done. Therefore, it would seem that Ford, Bacon and Davis are of the opinion that there are excellent possibilities for the port at this point.

Local citizens are not overlooking the importance of such a facility here. It will be the making of the whole area. Just now, a grain elevator is being considered, plus barge loading and unloading facilities. However, the actual facilities themselves will be determined to a great extent, by the report presently being made.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

It supplies roughage, minerals, vitamins A and C, and carotene and has virtually no calories.

DON'T VEGETATE

D. W. writes: Why do persons with high blood pressure have to remain quiet?

REPLY

They don't. Stress and strain should be avoided but there is no reason to become an invalid.

COLD MILK

D. E. writes: Is it harmful to drink a glass of cold milk on top of a hot supper?

REPLY

No. The heat of the stomach will warm the milk in no time. Some individuals develop abdominal cramps after drinking cold liquids but they are momentary.

FRIGHT NOT TO BLAME

Mrs. H. writes: Could a bad fright cause rheumatic fever in a 12 year old boy?

REPLY

No. Rheumatic fever stems from a streptococcal infection and is unrelated to emotional or nervous states.

Bomb Found In Macmillan's African Hotel

NDOLA, Northern Rhodesia (AP)—A crude bomb was discovered in the Savoy Hotel Friday, three hours before British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan arrived. Later he was greeted by an African independence demonstration.

Macmillan came to the hotel for a luncheon with leaders of Northern Rhodesia's copper belt. The bomb was found three floors below, and police said there would have been little danger to Macmillan if it had exploded. It was found in the boiler room and dismantled by police.

When Macmillan left, about 600 Africans shouted "Freedom now" and "Down with federation." They oppose ties with white-dominated Southern Rhodesia in the Central African Federation.

The demonstration was the biggest and best organized by African Nationalists since Macmillan arrived in Africa at the start of the month. Police did not attempt to stop the demonstrators. Macmillan put on a poker face and sped away in a waiting car.

Officials Studying Air Crash

MONTEGO BAY, Jamaica (AP)—Airline and government aviation officials Friday interviewed survivors of Thursday's Colombian airliner crash prior to opening a formal investigation into the cause of the disaster.

Thirty-seven persons died in the crash. Four passengers and five crewmembers escaped virtually unhurt. All 17 Americans aboard were killed.

Bodies of the victims were taken to Kingston for shipment to their homes for burial.

The Super Constellation of the Avianca Colombia National Airline was bound from New York to South America. It overturned and exploded in flames after setting down at Montego Bay airport. Some witnesses said the left landing gear collapsed when the plane touched down.

The officials probing the crash took statements from the passenger and crew survivors in their effort to piece together the details. The passengers who lived are H. C. Wynters and Renier Loven, both Dutch nationals who are World Bank officials, and Ian Kellon, a U.N. official from Australia, and his wife.

"You didn't have time to pray," Loven said in an interview. "After the first heavy bump on landing there was a succession of bumps and the plane keeled over."

"I knew that the landing gear was gone. When our speed decreased I loosened my safety belt. I saw the Keltons hanging from the ceiling in their safety belts and then I knew we were upside down."

Loven, who suffered bruises and scratches on the forehead, said he and Wynters will not go on to Bogota because all their papers were destroyed in the crash.

The Keltons said they will make the last leg of their trip to Ecuador by ship.

Milliners Tip Hats To Men In Style Show

PARIS (UPI)—Paris milliners tipped their hats to the men Friday.

That is, it was apparent in the lines of new spring and summer ladies' hats shown here this week that one of the main inspirations has come from the male hat department.

Not that frilly and flowery spring models have vanished, but the tailored hat with a soft, felt bowler look was seen in nearly all the collections. There was also the fedora look.

At Claude Saint-Cyr and Pierre Balmain, the emphasis was on height. Balmain showed one red velvet toque that stood so high a wide belt encircling the middle of its crown looked completely graceful.

Some of Saint-Cyr's creations had three-tiered crowns and looked like layer-cakes. She also had picture hats with wide brims and sailor hats, but all of them had deep crowns.

At Rose Valis, off-the-face daytime hats were trimmed in plaid and reminded one of a man's fedora.

Svend of Jacques Heim presented high soft-crowned models with pleats to be worn over chignons, while the House of Jean Patou turned its talents to the back of the neck by giving cloches, turbans and even the flat-topped sailor hat a backward tilt.

Jean Barthel achieved the 1960 the tailored look with high soft crowns and hats with soft brims turned down over one eye. At Frederick Robert there was a group of ice cream colored straws that, again, looked like bowlers.

NAME CUB ASSISTANT CHICAGO (UPI)—Harry Hickman, 32-year old native of Hattiesburg, Miss., who has been a Chicago Cub scout for eight years, has been named assistant director of player procurement for the club.

Court Kills Charges In Hate Drive

NEW YORK (AP)—A court Friday dismissed treason charges against three Queens youths who formed a Nazi-like group in a hate campaign against Jews. The charge, brought under state law, carried a mandatory death penalty upon conviction.

The three still face conspiracy and disorderly conduct charges. Magistrate James E. LoPiccolo dismissed the treason complaint on motion of Queens Dist. Atty. Frank D. O'Connor, who said careful investigation showed there was not sufficient evidence to make the charge stand.

Magistrate Milton Solomon had ordered the treason charge drawn Jan. 15 when the youths were arraigned before him on the other charges.

O'Connor told LoPiccolo that he since had discussed the situation with Solomon and that Solomon was "in accord with" the dismissal action.

The district attorney said, however, it was understandable that Solomon had ordered the charge drawn because of the lack of remorse shown by the defendants over their alleged plan to hurt, maim and drive out Jews.

O'Connor moved that all three be sent to Kings County Hospital for mental observation.

Gloria Cirino, court-appointed counsel for two of the youths, agreed that they be committed. They are John Wallace, 21, and Hugh Barlow, 20.

Counsel for the other defendant, Richard E. Phelps, 16, refused to consent.

Phelps was slated to be held in bail for trial with the others after they are returned from the hospital. Such hospital commitments usually last at least 10 days.

UP FOR GRABS — It looks as if almost everybody got in on the action in this scramble for a rebound in the second period of the West Monroe-Ouachita scrap last night. With both hands on the ball is Ouachita's Bobby Massingill (45). Teammate Mickey Fontana (55)

OUACHITA GIRLS FALL

Rebels Halt Lions, 46-41, For First Conference Win

By JIM CALHOUN
Staff Sports Writer

West Monroe's win-hungry Rebels recorded only their 2nd victory of the season here Friday night but made a big one, edging rival Ouachita, 46-41, in a roughy played district 1-AAA encounter.

Roy Lee Scroggins, the steady influence for L. V. Norris' inexperienced Rebel crew, dropped in 15 points, 13 of them coming in the last half, to provide the margin. Bobby Hendrix led the Lions with 14 points.

Five players fouled out in the hotly-contested defensive battle. The Lion's Johnny Roach was the first to make an exit with five personals, fouling out shortly after the second-half began. Teammates Harry Crowe and Bobby Massingill followed in the fourth quarter and Rebs Larry Danna and Joe Kramburg were forced to the West Monroe bench in the same stanza. Both clubs were charged with 22 fouls each.

The victory advanced West Monroe to 2-12 in overall play and squared the club's 1-AAA record at 1-1. H. H. Holliman's Ouachita squad now stands at 9-13 for the season and dropped its second consecutive district meeting.

Ouachita's inability from the free throw line probably cost the Lions the game. The hosts managed to sink only 15 of 28 attempts from the line. The Rebels seldom missed, converting 13 of 25 tries. Crowe, last season's top conference scorer and a free throw specialist, missed four out of seven.

The game opened as a nip-and-tuck affair. Don Long hit on a layup in the first minute of play to give Ouachita a 2-0 lead but a field goal by Oliver Schultz and

SPLIT DECISION

Robinson Upset By Paul Pender

BOSTON (AP) — Paul Pender, an obscure ex-fireman from Brookline, Mass., who was a 5-1 underdog, won a two-state version of the world middleweight title Friday night on a split 15-round decision over champion Sugar Ray Robinson at the Boston Garden.

The two judges voted for Pender, ranked 10th in the division, while Referee Joe Zupatas cast his ballot for the faded 39-year-old Sugar Man from New York.

Pender weighed 159½. Robinson 159½.

Robinson, hampered by inactivity, missed his big punches and failed to score with his combinations of old.

Pender, fighting a cautious battle, was content to jab, move and grab in the early rounds while trying to wear down Robinson. He stepped up the pace momentarily in the fourth and fifth and came on fast after he reached the 10th round.

Thus Robinson, who was stripped of his title by the National Boxing Assn. last year, lost the rest of it to a man who wasn't given much of a chance outside his immediate family and close friends. He will be recognized, however, only by Massachusetts and New York while Gene Fullmer rules in the NBA states.

The big crowd boomed and cheered for more action with rhythmic handclaps in the middle rounds but cheered madly as the split decision was announced.

There were no knockdowns in this battle of attrition with the old man trying his best for a knockout and his 29-year-old opponent hoping to wear him down.

Robinson, starting his 21st year as a ring pro, did most of his heavy work with a left hook and a straight right to the body. Once the right strayed low to draw a warning from the referee, many times it was so close to low territory that the ringside fans complained.

This was a pale copy of the old Robinson, missing his long right hand leads and failing to put together his flashy combinations. Still it was Sugar Ray applying the pressure most of the time.

When Pender became more daring and started to go to the attack in the 11th he drove through Robinson's defense with a right lead to the chin. During the 13th, Pender three times landed right-left-right combinations to Rays' head.

Judge Joe Santoro, whose vote was announced first, called it 147-

138 in favor of Pender. Then Referee Joe Zupatas' ballot for Robinson 146-142 was announced. Judge John Norton's call of 148-142 in favor of Pender drew cheers for the new champion. The AP card was 145-141 for Robinson.

After the final bell the two fighters exchanged a few words in the ring. Pender in his dressing room said he told Robinson, "Sugar, you were getting tired on me." According to Pender, Robinson replied, "Well I'm getting old."

The first quick poll of ringside showed an 9-6 edge for Robinson among newsmen covering the fight.

From Robinson's dressing room came angry words from George Gainford, Sugar Ray's longtime trainer and adviser.

"I think he won the fight," said George.

The dethroned champ appeared to accept defeat calmly. "What I think about the outcome makes no difference," he said. "That's what the referee and judges are for."

Gainford added, "I think we gambled too much, waiting 22 months. We'd like to have the return match in New York if Madison Square Garden wants it. They want it here and I don't think that would be fair."

Robinson came out of the fight with lumps under both eyes. Pender was cut on the left eyebrow as early as the seventh and bled most of the rest of the way.

Under Massachusetts rules the bout was scored by the 10-point must system in which the winner of a round gets 10 points, the loser nine or less. Each fighter gets 10 in even rounds. On the basis of rounds, the scoring would have been Referee Zupatas 8-4-3 for Robinson, Judge Santoro 11-3-1 for Pender and Judge Norton 8-2-5 for Pender.

When more writers were polled after returning from the dressing rooms, the poll showed a 13-9 edge for Robinson.

A crowd of 10,600 paid $85,010 to see the bout which was nationally televised but blacked out in Boston and a surrounding 100-mile area.

According to the contracts there was to be a rematch within 90 days if Pender won. The site and date have not been set.

WEST TUMBLES, 125-115

4 Players Spark East To Victory

By NOAH HALPER

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Hot streaks by four different players gave the Eastern All-Stars a 125-115 victory over the West in the National Basketball Assn.'s annual classic Friday night.

The East went into a lead it never lost early in a 33-point second quarter on the tremendous jump shooting of Boston's Bill Sharman and the rebounding of Philadelphia rookie sensation Wilt Chamberlain.

Each time the West threatened after that, the East got lifts from Richie Guerin of New York, Tom Gola of Philadelphia and Chamberlain who easily won the game's most valuable player award.

The 7-ft center was a rebound marvel and continually thrilled the crowd of 10,421 by dunking shots and four times blocking opposing players' attempts.

Outstanding for the West was Cincinnati's Jack Twyman with 27 points, two more than West teammate Elgin Baylor of Minneapolis. Chamberlain led the East's scorers with 23 points.

Chamberlain also had 25 rebounds and couldn't be controlled by either Detroit's Walter Dukes or St. Louis' Clyde Lovellette.

Ed Macauley of St. Louis, coach of the West team which went down to its seventh loss in 10 All-Star games, acknowledged Chamberlain's performance but said the scoring streaks by Sharman, Guerin and Gola were what won it for the East.

Gola was the East's alternate player and got into the game only because Warrior Paul Arizin had a leg injury which kept him inactive.

As usual, Bob Cousy of Boston, who has played in each of the 10 All-Star Games, drew his share of glory with eight assists, although playing only 26 of the 48 minutes. Until his teammates became accustomed to his passing the East lost the ball three times.

Twyman hit on 11 of 17 shots from the floor, mostly in the second half when the West trailed by as much as 19 points. He and Baylor were instrumental in narrowing the gap to six points at one time until Gola hit on five successive shots, all he made in the game.

The East, after trailing by one point at the first quarter, went into a 58-51 lead at halftime. Sharman got 10 points in the second quarter. Guerin sank eight points early in the second half to spur the East to a 16-point lead. There was little doubt of the outcome after that.

Dick Garmaker of Minneapolis hit a foul and three field goals in succession to close the gap some what but that's when Gola did his bit.

The East hit on 54 of 135 shots from the floor, the West 50 of 121. Dolph Schayes of Syracuse, Guerin, Sharman, Gola, Larry Costello and George Yardley of Syracuse and Willie Naulls of New York all joined Chamberlain in double figures for the East.

Besides Twyman and Baylor, Lovellette, Hot Rod Hundley of Minneapolis, Gene Shue of Detroit, Bob Pettit of St. Louis and Garmaker were in double figures for the West.

Northeast, Nicholls Meet For Third Time Tonight

By BOB ANDERSON
World Sports Editor

Hoping the third time proves the charm Northeast's cagers take their final shot at tough Nicholls State tonight in an 8 o'clock clash in the Ouachita gym.

Lenny Fant's Indians have lost twice to Nicholls by margins of 17 and 10 points. The first game was played at Thibodaux and the second in the Northeast Tournament here.

The game in the Northeast tournament, incidentally, ended at 92-82.

The 62 points were the most scored by the Indians this year. If Northeast can come up with a similar offensive effort and backboard work like that exhibited against Southwestern, the Tribe would have a good chance of picking up victory No. 2.

Northeast has won one and lost 15 for the year. In Gulf States Conference competition, the Redskins are 1-3. After tonight, Northeast will have only one more non-conference engagement remaining on the schedule, a Feb. 9 date with Mississippi Southern.

Tonight's contest will be the last of January with the next game being a Feb. 1 meeting with Southeastern at Hammond.

The Indians' next home game is Feb. 6, also against Southeastern. Coach Fant said last night Ronald Doyle, the team's leading scorer with a 13.8 average, had had a tooth pulled and might not be in top shape for tonight's game.

In the event Doyle doesn't start, 6-3 Gene Cozine or 6-5 Dave Harkins might draw the starting call. The rest of the Indian lineup is expected to be Robert Cook and Charley Barnes, both 6-5, 6-1 Fred Bradley and 6-1 Lanny Johnson, second to Doyle in scoring with an 11.6 average.

Nicholls' Coach Morris Osburn is expected to lead off with the same five that faced Northeast in the tournament game, a relatively big outfit that averages slightly over 6-3.

Clyde Frederick (6-7) will probably be the center, Jim Geiger (6-3) and John Fickers (6-5) the forwards and Max Hensley (6-11) and Frank Etheridge (6-11) the guards. Frederick and Geiger are the team's outstanding offensive threats and Frederick, who is no stringbean, a rugged competitor on the boards.

Forest, Epps Triumph At L. Providence

LAKE PROVIDENCE (Special) — Unbeaten Forest and Epps scored victories in the boys' division and Kibbourne and Lake Providence grabbed girls' wins as the annual Lake Providence tournament passed the second day of play yesterday.

Rangy Larry Butler tossed in 17 points as Arlon Adams' Forest quipped swamped Tallulah, 73-32. Jerry Fairbanks scored nine points for the outmanned Trojans.

Epps whipped Lake Providence, 32-43, behind the 21-point performance of Ken Throver. Pinkston bagged 14 for the hosts.

In girls action Kibbourne downed Holly Ridge, 45-33, and Lake Providence tripped Delhi, 48-27. Billie Hendrix netted 14 in the Kibbourne win and Patrick put in 10 for Holly Ridge. Johnson sparked the Lake Providence triumph with 30 markers while Patrick hooped 11 to lead Delhi.

In Thursday action Lake Providence defeated Monticello, 83-70, and Pioneer bowed to Oak Grove, 63-20, in boys' play and Oak Grove tipped Monticello, 47-22, in a girls game.

MAY POSTPONE TASK

NFL Owners At Standstill In Election Of President

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — Sharply-divided National Football League club owners failed for the third straight day to elect a new commissioner Friday and there was a good chance they might postpone the strife-ridden task for a few weeks.

The owners adjourned shortly before 5 p.m. e.s.t. without even taking another formal ballot. They scheduled another election meeting for 10 a.m. Saturday.

But they obviously were so stalemated on the issue of a successor to the late Bert Bell that several NFL owners said "there was a good chance" they might adjourn Saturday without even taking up a proposal to expand the league.

SEC ROUNDUP

Unbeaten Leaders Face Tough Test

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Georgia Tech, in a minor slump after its sizzling early pace in the Southeastern Conference basketball race, will get a tough new test Saturday night when the tall Tennessee Vols invade Atlanta.

Tech, leading the SEC with a 4-0 family chart, had to go over time last Saturday to subdue Vanderbilt. And the Yellow Jackets lost Tuesday to Auburn in a non-conference extra game.

Tennessee, one of the league's better rebounding teams, can attack Tech in its weakest spot—lack of talent in the height department. And just around the corner, pointing for revenge against the Jackets, lurk the Kentucky Wildcats, due in town Monday night. The two games should put Tech's title hopes in sharp focus, or blur them badly.

Auburn meets Georgia at Columbus, Ga., in the only other SEC action. Mississippi State is at home to New Orleans' Loyola and Mississippi is at Memphis State while the other teams bone up for semester exams.

Auburn's adroit use of the shuffle offense and its carefully rationed shots have hoisted the Tigers into the national lead in field goal and free throw percentages. They reached a peak against Tech, and it may be the peak at which they stay the rest of the way. A schedule advantage gives Auburn home dates against Tech, Tennessee, Vanderbilt and Kentucky.

Georgia showed a new spark this week against Stetson after coach Harbin Lawson lifted Al Johnson from the bench and installed the 5-foot-10 sophomore in the starting lineup. Johnson is smooth at setting up plays and has a good shot from long range.

Tennessee will greet Tech with a shuffled lineup. Coach Johnny Sines says he will bench Howie Moss and insert Dick Fisher in the starting lineup for the first time this season. The move is calculated to strengthen the Vols' rebounding muscles. They have out rebounded all 13 foes to date in compiling a 7-6 record.

Mississippi State attempts to halt a losing skid at three games in the clash with Loyola. The Maroons fell to Georgia Tech, Vanderbilt and Mississippi beginning Jan. 9 after beating Alabama for its lone conference victory. State is having its miseries after winning the SEC title last year.

Mississippi opens a six-game road trip at Memphis State. The Rebels have been strictly a home club this year with three SEC victories on the Oxford court and two losses at Tech and Vanderbilt. The return of 6-foot-7 Ivan Richmann, a big figure in last week's triumph over Mississippi State, helps the Rebels. A family illness kept Richmann from competing against either Tech or Vandy.

Kentucky, still in a good position to win the title despite a shaky start in the loss to Tech, opens a weeklong road trip Monday in Atlanta. The Wildcats tangle with Georgia and Florida before returning to the Bluegrass Country.

Bowling Meet Slated Here Next Weekend

The 12th annual Northeast Louisiana Bowling Association Championships will be held at the Bowlers Bowling Lanes on weekends of January 30-31 and February 6-7. This tournament is open to all bowlers who are members of the Northeast Louisiana Bowling Association (NLBA) and American Bowling Congress (ABC) sanctioned members.

Approximately 60 five-member teams, 80 doubles teams, and 160 singles from Monroe and Bastrop will compete for the prizes and trophies which are estimated in value at $800.00.

The Tournament will be on a handicap basis of 70 per cent of the difference between a bowler's average and 200.

Last year champions will all return to defend their titles. The team event was won by L. Morrow, B. Ramin, S. Corro, H. McMurry and T. Gibbons with a 3,065. J. Wheeler and W. W. Wilson were the doubles champions with a 1,313 while Sonny Durham won both the singles (719) and the all-events (1,979).

Entry blanks and information may be obtained from the Tournament Manager, Sonny Durham, or from: Bowlers Lanes in Monroe and Morehouse Lanes in Bastrop.

Solon Warns Against Pro Team Piracy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn) of the Senate antimonopoly subcommittee said Friday that piracy of any city for a pro football franchise might violate antitrust laws. But Kefauver added that each case—a battle over Dallas, for instance—would have to be considered on its own merits.

The American Football League, which expects to start playing next fall already has assigned a Dallas franchise to Lamar Hunt, one of the league's founders.

Another Dallas group, including wealthy Clint Murchinson, is waiting for a franchise in the National Football League if that established circuit expands.

Kefauver said any evidence that the NFL wants to expand only to smother the AFL before it gets off its feet "would give rise to antitrust questions."

George Preston Marshall, owner of the Washington Redskins, has said that shutting out the AFL is one of the aims of fellow NFL executives who advocate expansion. Whether to take in more cities is being debated at the NFL's stormy meeting now in progress at Miami.

Kefauver said his subcommittee is watching the activities of both leagues and probably will conduct hearings this year. He had asserted previously that any signs of pushing around the AFL in its infancy would call for an investigation.

He said there is plenty of room for expansion of both major league football and baseball.

Asked if a NFL move into Dallas would violate the AFL's rights, Kefauver said this "would depend on the factual situation."

Crowe 19, Lee: Livingston 11, Wimsboro: Courson 25, Jefferson: Blanks 11, Bastrop: Crowe 23, Lee: and Dunn 12, Sterlington. Today's semifinal play sends Jefferson against Lee at 10 a.m. and Ouachita against West Monroe at 1 p.m. Ruston meets Jefferson at 11 and Bastrop takes on West Monroe at 2 in boys' games.

Consolations are set for five and six o'clock with the finals at seven and eight.

Host Teams In Semifinals Of Jr. Meet

Both host teams gained the semifinals as the West Monroe Junior High School cage tournament moved into the final round of play today.

Paced by Robinson's 19 points, the West Monroe boys breezed past Swartz, 42-17. Freeman sacked 14 points to spark the losers. Patton tossed in 16 points to give the West Monroe girls a 19-8 decision over Woodlawn. Kennedy got four of the losers' total.

Ruston, Bastrop and Jefferson also stayed in the running with victories in the boys' division while Ouachita, Jefferson and Lee joined the West Monroe sextet in the girls semifinals.

Ruston, paced by Shows' 26 points toppled Ouachita boys, 44-36. Slusher hooped 17 for the Monroe quint. Bastrop, aided by six points by Funderburk and Quinn, routed Woodlawn, 36-7. Jefferson's five slammed Wimsboro, 33-14, and Canal got 20 for the winners and Emfinger hit 7 for the losers.

In other boys' games Woodlawn beat Sterlington, 9-5, Ouachita ripped Calhoun, 48-22, and Swartz nipped Lee, 20-16. Price and Crowley put in 12 apiece for Ouachita, Thompson hit 10 for Calhoun, Freeman bagged 14 for Swartz, Garrett netted 7 for Lee and Wheeler netted 6 for Woodlawn.

Girls action saw Ouachita beat Swartz, 28-19, Lee smash Wimsboro, 37-11, Jefferson beat Bastrop, 39-18, and Lee defeat Sterlington, 31-27.

High scorers were McCoch 11, Ouachita; Ramsey 12, Swartz; without selecting a commissioner. Austin Gunesel would remain in his capacity as acting commissioner. The second meeting probably would be held in Philadelphia during February or March.

In such an eventuality the owners would have left in abeyance the two major issues which they gathered here to resolve. Dallas, Minneapolis-St. Paul, St. Louis, and Miami all have applied for franchises in the NFL.

The owners could decide to adjourn by a majority vote.

After another wearisome day of bickering, a caucus to consider new compromise candidates and a brief detour to take up some minor matters, the owners adjourned before dinner to attend a social gathering to celebrate the opening of a Miami Beach dog track. Host of the party was Walter Wolfner of the Chicago Cardinals.

A compromise proposal submitted by owner Art Rooney of the Pittsburgh Steelers that Gunesel be elected for a one year "trial" term was given a cold shoulder by the "solid seven" supporters of San Francisco attorney Marshall Leahy.

Actually, the owners discussed candidates only for two brief periods lasting about an hour each.

Through the transparent curtains of their meeting room in the Kenilworth Hotel, the owners could be plainly seen gesturing strenuously and shouting as they debated candidates.

At one point, George Preston Marshall of the Washington Redskins, a Gunesel supporter, and Vic Morabito of the San Francisco Forty-Niners, who employs Leahy as club attorney, both rose to their feet to argue.

And yet when they took a one-hour morning break for an "informal caucus", representatives of the rival factions huddled together for calm, friendly discussions.

Neither the six-man group that has consistently supported the candidacy of San Francisco attorney Marshall Leahy nor the four-man eastern bloc which vigorously opposed his intention of moving the office to the West Coast would yield.

Owner Art Rooney of the Pittsburgh Steelers proposed during the morning session that Gunesel, the 50-year-old former FBI man who has filled the job since Bell's death Oct. 11, be elected for a one-year "trial" term.

But this did not meet with enough approval from the Leahy supporters even to merit a ballot early in the day.

One of the compromise prospects was A. B. (Happy) Chandler, former baseball commissioner and now outgoing governor of Kentucky.

The others were: Sam Weiss, Pittsburgh judge and former NFL official; Ray Benmixon, former Chicago Cards official and now general manager of Sportsman's Park in Chicago; Chilly Walsh, former general manager of the old Cleveland Rams; Frank Sullivan, Philadelphia attorney who is drawing up the NFL players benefit plan; Don Miller, Cleveland attorney who was one of Notre Dame's famed "Four Horsemen," and Nick Kerbawy, former Detroit Lions general manager who presently holds that job with the Detroit basketball Pistons.

The 41-year old outfielder, whose always-lofty batting average slipped to .254 last season when he suffered a pinched neck nerve, conceded, "I've had a little trouble in the neck. I'm sick of it. And I suppose everyone else is."

He also has business in view here, and will consult this week-end with dealers who handle his fishing equipment.

Williams said that at best he is only 6 to 8 pounds over his normal playing weight—210.

Asked about the trades made in the off season, Williams said: "I've always been high on Ron Jackson. I think he'll hit. And that Tom Sturdivant has guts. He's a game guy. He'll give you all he's got."

Jackson is a first baseman acquired by the Red Sox from the Chicago White Sox. Sturdivant, right-handed pitcher, was obtained from Kansas City.

He also expressed the opinion that outfielder Bobby Thomson and second baseman Ray Webster would help the club. Then he added:

"Of course, we gave up quite a bit and like all trades if ours come through it will be a good one."

Williams said that Roger Maris, obtained by New York from Kansas City, would help the Yankees "except that at the end of last year he went bad and looked as if he'd gone blind." Ted thought the Yanks had given up a lot to get Maris.

Because of the lateness of his arrival, Williams is expected to see Fadden and Harris Saturday.

LSU Coaches

Receive Raises

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Louisiana State University's Board of Supervisors today hiked head football coach Paul Dietzel's salary by $500 per year.

The board raised his salary to $17,000 yearly. Dietzel has four years left on his present contract.

The board also approved raises for assistant coaches Charles McLendon, Clarence Strange, George Terry, Larry Jones, Arthur Davis and Raymond Didier who is also head baseball coach.

Davis and Jones, both of whom worked on a part-time basis, were named full-time assistants.

Williams To Quit If Neck Not Improved

BOSTON (AP) — Ted Williams, veteran Boston Red Sox slugger, said Friday "If my neck isn't any better or doesn't improve I won't play ball this season."

He came to Boston to consult Red Sox trainer Jack Fadden about his condition and also to see Bucky Harris, Boston general manager concerning his playing future.

Williams stepped off the plane looking tanned and fit and while talking with newsmen signed numerous autographs for youngsters.

The 41-year old outfielder, whose always-lofty batting average slipped to .254 last season when he suffered a pinched neck nerve, conceded, "I've had a little trouble in the neck. I'm sick of it. And I suppose everyone else is."

By GEORGE ESPER

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Los Angeles appears ticketed for a franchise in the National Basketball Assn.

Recreation Basketball

In a feline fight, the Hep Cats downed the Black Kittens, 9-6, last night in Northside Girls' competition. Swayze scored 6 for the Cats and Branch had 4 for the Kittens. The Beatniks shut out the Gold Waves, 9-0, with Ifalsel and Fettingner netting 4 each.

The Eaglettes fell to the Rhythmaires, 13-9. Crow got all 9 for the losers and fivon put in 7 for the winners. The Tigerettes forfeited to the Hornets in the league's other game.

In the military-conscious Northside Pee Wee League, the Generals were 16-9 winners over the Captains and the mutinous Majors whipped the Colonels, 18-14. Ford got all 16 points for the Generals. Torrance had 5 for the Captains, Cookston put in 10 for the Majors and Amman got 3 for the Colonels.

The Cyclones outbowed the Hurricanes, 20-15, and the Tornados swamped the Sharpshooters, 28-3. Baker was high for the Tornados with 10. Anding got 8 for the Hurricanes. Trousdale put in 7 for the Cyclones and Johnson collected all of the Sharpshooters' points.

Coffey scored 23 points to top the night's Church "A" League scorers but his team, Temple, lost to L.T.I., 64-30. McCullough got 17 to pace L.T.I. College Place routed Victory, 47-19. McGowen got 18 for the winners and McGough put in 11 for Victory. St. Joseph took a 46-36 decision over Trinity, with McCullough scoring 17. Sanford got 10 for Trinity.

New Light, First Baptist and Central Baptist took victories in the Church "B" League last night. New Light downed Southside Methodist, 58-33, First Baptist whipped Calvary, 40-31, and Central romped over Claiborne, 57-17.

Jones got 18 for New Light and Schuler 20 for Southside. Aston got 12 for First Baptist and Vivian Pettit 10 for Calvary. Barker was high for Central with 15 and Fordham put in 7 for Claiborne.

Souchak Leads Crosby Tourney

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Hefty Mike Souchak fired a 6-under-par 66 Friday grabbing the second round lead in the $50,000 Bing Crosby Golf Tournament with a 36-hole score of 139.

The former Duke University football player scored eight birdies, including putts of 40 feet on the first hole and 20 on the 11th, to move a stroke ahead of Gene Littler of San Diego, co-leader after the first round.

Littler shot a 73 Friday at Pebble Beach for his 140 total.

Deadlocked at 141 this chilly, windy day were Ed Oliver of Denver, Colo., who shot a 68 at the Monterey Peninsula Country Club and Ken Venturi with a 71 at Pebble Beach, the best score of the tournament there.

Souchak carded a 73 at Cypress Point Thursday ahead of the howling winds and Friday fired the tournament's lowest round to take the lead at the 72-hole tournament's midway point.

Although he hasn't shot low enough here to qualify for the final round for the past two years, Souchak of Grossinger, N. Y., needed only 27 putts and went over par on just two holes.

In the pro-amateur division pro Chick Harbert of Northville, Mich., and entertainer Phil Harris teamed for a 65 to lead at 129.

In Saturday's third round, Souchak moves to Pebble Beach with

FOR THAT BIG DATE, that extra-special occasion, our model wears a dance dress of satin brocade, featuring a bell skirt and tied with a sash, hallmark of the season.

YOUR PROBLEMS

Suspect Fellow Was Well-Fortified Drunk

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a girl 16 who would like to tell all parents to please let their teenagers find their own dates.

I worked part time in a jewelry store over the holidays. A woman who came in to buy gifts took a liking to me. She asked if I had a steady fella and I said no. The next day she came back with an 8 x 10 picture of her son. He looked handsome and I said I would go out with him.

When he came to pick me up I wanted to crawl into the woodwork. He was a head shorter than I and wore a fire-man red vest and a derby. My brother laughed so hard I heard him from the next room.

The guy was a smart aleck and very dull company. He bragged a lot and I had a miserable evening. I should have known that any boy whose mother has to find him a date must be a nothing. Print this as a warning to other girls.—STOOP

Dear Stoop: Some blind dates work out well. A girl has to make up her mind whether or not she wants to risk it. In most instances it's the fellow who is disappointed. (And it's more difficult to get a guy to stand still for a blind date than for a girl.)

For teenagers who are not adventurous — a pre-date coffee huddle is a good gimmick to decide whether or not you want to devote an entire precious evening to someone you've never seen.

Dear Ann Landers: My cousin married a man who is a mystery to all of us. This is her first marriage, her third. He gets absolutely blotto on ONE DRINK. Have you ever heard of anything like this? Is it possible? No one in the family can understand it. When they came to our home for the evening during the holidays he was cold sober. After a single shot of bourbon he was knocked out of in his mind. What do you make of this? — ESMERALDA

Dear Es: It is possible that one drink means one drunk. However I suspect the fellow had a little start before he showed up at your place. Frequently people who appear to get loaded on very little have managed to get well fortified before setting out for the evening.

Dear Ann: I'm a respectable woman who minds her own business. Several years ago I had an unfortunate marriage. My former husband was a liar and a cheat. My doctor advised me to get rid of him or I would be sick for the rest of my life.

I live in a rather large city where a divorced woman is NOT considered a two-headed freak. Yet, whenever an item mentioning divorce appears in your column I receive the clipping in the mail.

I have a strong suspicion that a certain woman who is employed in my department is sending these clippings. Shall I call her on it once and for all? — ANNOYED

Dear Annoyed: Say nothing. (1) You have no proof that your suspicions are correct. (2) Even if this woman is guilty she would deny it. The clippings would continue because she would then be certain that her attempts to irritate you were meeting with success.

Confidential to TIRED OF HIS CUSSING: People who use profane language admit that their vocabularies are bankrupt. They feel the need to substitute strong words for weak ideas.

Does almost everyone have a good time but you? If so, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "How To Be Well-Liked," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a large self-addressed envelope.)

Oak Grove Setting For Gay Parties

Miss Louise Hogan, bride-elect of Carroll Head, was guest of honor at a miscellaneous shower given on Saturday, January 16, between the hours of five and seven in the recreation room of the First Baptist Church in Oak Grove.

Hostesses for the affair were Mrs. Marvin Lipp, Mrs. Henry Thomas, Mrs. James Cheatham, Mrs. James Sanford, Mrs. W. H. Keller, and Mrs. R. A. Everett. Throughout the reception rooms were arrangements of red camellias, and on the piano and the table where the gifts were displayed were white tapers in silver holders used with the camellias.

Forming the receiving line were the honoree, her mother, Mrs. John Hogan, the prospective groom's mother, Mrs. Clinton Head, Mrs. W. H. Keller, and Mrs. R. A. Everett.

The serving table held an arrangement of pink camellias and fern which filled a low silver bowl, flanked by silver candelabra holding tall white tapers. Presiding at the coffee service was Mrs. Henry Thomas, and at the tea service was Mrs. Marvin Lipp.

Miss Mary Alice Thomas helped guests to register in the guest book. Organ pupils of Miss Dee Hamilton, Misses Pam Pippins, Gail Sawyer, and Carolyn McCormick, played selections.

Approximately seventy-five guests attended the party, including the bride-elect's grandmother, Mrs. F. E. Hogan, of Oak Ridge, and her aunts, Mrs. Earl Hogan of Oak Ridge, Mrs. J. P. McKee of West Monroe, and Mrs. Cletus Lee and daughter from Ruston.

The home of Mrs. Jewel B. Head in Oak Grove was the scene when she entertained recently with Mrs. Jim Pichoff in honor of Mrs. Thomas D. Head, who recently came to Oak Grove from West Berlin, Germany.

Mrs. M. D. East presided over the coffee service on the refreshment table, which was covered with a beige damask cloth and centered with a bowl of chrysanthemums and fern.

Those at the party were Mrs. J. M. Welch, Mrs. Press Berry, Mrs. Roy Stedman, Mrs. Bobby Barnett, Mrs. Charlotte Hamilton, Mrs. James Winifred Trichell, Mrs. Laverne Ferriss, Mrs. Jack Golsen, Mrs. Bill Byargeon, Mrs. Leo Blackwell, Mrs. Jess Smith, Mrs. Edsel Pippins, and Mrs. Melba McIntosh.

The Rev. Msgr. J. C. Marsh, Father Jordan Schell, John Henry Vaughan, Mike Breard, William Henry Blanke, Richard Hugh Blanke, and John Howard Blanke.

SUNSHINE OR SHOWER, this lass comes prepared in her weather-resistant coat, this one a bright melon color. Accent is at the neckline where soft drape ties in sunny weather, converts into hood when the weather's bad.

Violet Becomes Popular Color Used In Home

CHICAGO (UPI) — Purple cows may be strictly imaginary, but violet walls for the home are considered imaginative.

Purple-tone colors, from blue-violet to delicate pink-lilac, now are used widely on walls, says Miss Margaret Hutchison, color-stylist for a paint company.

"Violet walls are on the increase because of their unique adaptability to changes in natural lighting," Miss Hutchison said. She explained that violet walls appear brighter on dark days, and softer and more subdued on sunny days.

Miss Hutchison added that violet walls go well with elegant, traditional interiors, and also coordinate with and give a new look to many pinks, aquas and blues of contemporary furniture.

She listed some popular violet shades and their coordinating colors: Blue violet with blues and greens; red violet with vibrant reds; hyacinth with a wide range of blues, especially soft greenblues and aquas; periwinkle with aquas; and pink lilac with all shades of violet.

Miss Hutchison cautioned, however, against combinations which might be too startling for comfort.

JUST TO MAKE SURE

ANSONIA, Conn. (AP) —The Board of Aldermen had approved nine of the mayor's appointments by the same 15-0 vote. Then, when the mayor's choice for membership in the Department of Welfare was put up for vote, it was 14-1.

The dissenting alderman quickly explained he had nothing against the appointee. "I just wanted to make sure they were really counting the ballots," he said.

YOUR BABY AND MINE

What She Can Do With Uncontrollable Child

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Sometimes a letter is too long to print but can be answered so that it will be comprehensible to readers. This is true of a letter from Mrs. P. Q., the gist of which is an uncontrollable, bad-tempered 5-year-old boy with whom she can seem to do nothing.

He is noisy in school, cannot sit still at home, refuses to heed any commands, shouts and screams at his parents and answers them back or goes into a tantrum if they give him orders.

His mother admits she shouts at him and is emotionally upset when his mother, but his father talks somewhat loudly to him and others. His mother wonders if it is his environment, his age or the way she treats him which is responsible for his behavior?

Unfortunately, much of this behavior is pretty routine with a child his age. He is past infancy; he is out of the home part of the day; he thinks highly of himself and his opinions.

Also, he is at an especially tense age: given to screaming, shouting, knocking things over at table, kicking table legs, falling upstairs (not as co-ordinated as he was at five)—having temper tantrums.

At this age he will react better if you make a game of your demands than if you order him than you and tend to call you bad names or tell you you are mean more quickly than he will him.

He should be told what you expect of him and when he refuses to heed you, take him by the hand and lead him to his room telling him quietly that he is to stay there until he feels like being good again. Welcome him when he comes out, or, after too long a stay, go in and smooth things over.

Warn him that he will be taken home if he acts up when you go visiting and don't fail to carry out the warning. His own tenseness will be helped if you, his parents, exhibit more control of your own emotions, which merely excite, excite or frighten him. And not too far away is six, at which time he will lose some of these unruly characteristics.

If you would like to have our 10-cent booklet "Obedience and Discipline" send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of this newspaper.

Lenwil P.T.A. Makes Plans For Supper

The Lenwil P.T.A. met Thursday, January 21 at 2 p.m. in the school cafeteria, with Mrs. J. W. Hackworth presiding.

Mr. Leslie Hamm and Mr. Sonny Avant, newly elected police jurors, held a panel discussion about the schools and roads pertaining to the community, was enjoyed by all.

The Lenwil P.T.A. will sponsor a hamburger supper February 12 at three o'clock in the afternoon. Those desiring orders please contact FA 3-3604. The money received will be used to finish paying for fans, bought by the P.T.A. for the school.

Refreshments were served by the fifth grade mothers, Mrs. Powell's lower grade and Mrs. Moore's upper grade won the room count for this meeting.

Fashion's The Reason 'Fifties Were Frantic

NEW YORK (UPD) — Curves went in and out of style in the 1950's, but they'll stay a fixture in the '60's when fashion orbits around sex and space.

The past decade opened with slimmed-down versions of the full-blown skirt. The "siren sheath" appeared, waistline were nipped in, and hemlines edged downward, dropping about an inch a season.

In 1954, French designer Gabrielle Chanel came out of retirement and revived the casual cardigan suit. The extreme pointed toe and skinny heel became high-fashion, and the pinch was on for the rest of the decade.

The mid-50's saw the start of using mixed man-made and natural fibers for more practical clothes.

The year 1957 went down as the year of the most revolutionary fashion — the chemise. Women first were shocked by the Paris decree of no bust-no waist, but by the spring of 1958, the sack was a uniform for women in the lower age and income brackets, at least.

With the chemise, hemlines went up and up — some times to 13½ inches from the floor.

Young Yves St. Laurent, successor to Christian Dior who died in 1957, launched the pyramid-shaped trapeze in Paris.

But by fall, 1958, the chemise and trapeze were dead, and a modified Empire line took over. Hems, however, stayed high, and in 1959, St. Laurent again set the fashion world buzzing with his hobble skirt which reached mid- or above-knee. The Paris house of Nina Ricci showed long, slim suit jackets and touched off a trend to man-tailored fashions and the Garbo look.

The decade ended on normal note — the easy-fit suit, moderately short skirts, shirtwaist dresses, and curves in the right places.

What of the 1960's? Look for three main trends which turned up in a United Press International poll of American and French designers — the sexy sheath, space-inspired spheres, and the Chanel-type loose look considered too practical and comfortable to abandon.

Paris designers will be ready when women want "something ethereal" for travel to the moon, they said, but the normal or close-to-normal hipline and bustline will be with us "as long as women are," they added.

However, New York designer Ceil Chapman predicted that space will be the "operative word" for fashion, and clothes will take the shape of rockets, bubbles and spheres.

Richard Cole, a dress manufacturer, forecast more packaged fashions, such as no-size knit dresses.

New fabrics, linings, and processes are expected. More year-round light-weight fabrics are due because of travel and controlled heating. Designer Adele Simpson predicted that clothes will be layered, for peeling off or adding on, to suit the climate.

Here's a head-to-toe look at the shape to come:

Hats — Sailors, berets worn on the back of the head, and high-crowned turbans, toques, pill boxes, and bell clothes. More real furs, plus synthetic furs, straws and cellophane-like materials. Designs will be extreme, but not monstrousities that everyone laughs at, said Bill Riemer, executive director of the Millinery Institute of America.

Silhouettes — Variations on the sheath, a plastered, fitted look defining all natural curves, amendments to the loose Chanel look, a softer look for at least five years, and cone and bubble shapes.

Sleeves will be wider, necklines lower and more open, skirts both full and slim. Hiplines will be rounded, and waistlines will range from normal to slightly lower. The length of hems will not change drastically.

Dresses — Look for one-piece dresses, costumes with hipline-length jackets, and coat dresses with soft, full skirts, belted waists, and widened sleeves.

Suits — Easy-fit and fitted types with longer jackets, belts, and slim skirts. The Chanel influence will continue.

Coats — White and dark tweeds will be equally fashionable. There will be a variety of silhouettes: wide, cape — types with short sleeves and deep armholes; fitted coats, especially in silk; and straight, loose styles with three-quarter sleeves and collarless necklines. Reversibles will be more important.

Sportswear — More coordinates and a greater trend to pants and shorts of all lengths. Two-piece bathing suits. Dullest, off-beat tones, lots of denim, seersucker, gingham, light-weight synthetics, dark batiks. The Chanel look will carry over into 1960, the cropped classic cardigan will continue well into the decade, and tunic-length sweaters will grow in popularity.

Lingerie and sleepwear — Bikini underwear and short pajamas, and bed-to-breakfast aprons, jumpers and pinafors.

Furs — Look for full cuts, with the fullness either distributed evenly so the effect is slim or sweeping out in cape and tent shapes. Also watch for peg-tapered coats.

Hosiery — No limit on textures. In 1960, textures will range from opaque for casual wear to sheer, glittering metallics for evening. More pastels for spring; deeper browns, greys, and off-blacks for fall.

Shoes — Pointed toes will remain, especially for after-dark, said the National Shoe Institute. New toe shapes will include the flattened oval for walking and nipped-off and flattened squares. All shoes will remain tapered, however. Heels will be all heights and shapes and as thin as ever. In some cases, thinner — just a spoke for evening. "They'll be comfortable, except on the pocketbook," the Institute said.

Hints For Making Happy Homemakers

A 4.5ths quart bottle of champagne will yield 8 average servings. One case of 12 bottles yields about 100 glasses of champagne.

To assure good flavor of coffee made in an electric pot, scour the inside after each use with a small bottle brush, warm water, and detergent — not soap. Rinse thoroughly, dry with a clean soft cloth and store with lid off.

To store chocolates for later eating, put the box of candy in a tightly closed plastic bag and keep in the refrigerator. When you take it out, let the chocolates reach room temperature before removing the bag.

Leftover holiday ham should be refrigerated loosely covered and used within a few days. A half ham will keep almost a week, says the American Meat Institute, but slices, cubes and ground cooked ham should be used within 2 or 3 days.

When sewing sheer material, prevent puckered seams by placing a piece of paper under the seam while stitching.

Keep a teapot spout free from stains by working a well-lathered bottle brush up and down inside. Wash the entire teapot in hot detergent suds and rinse.

ROLLING IN CLOVER
ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — Mrs. Tom Henry is rolling in clover — the four-leaf kind.
Since last April 13, Mrs. Henry claims she has found more than 1,500 four-leaf clovers in the yard at her home. In one day, she says, she found 175.
She also found one six-leaf and one seven-leaf clover which she put in her freezer for safe-keeping.
And five leaves — they're a dime a dozen. But Mrs. Henry never picks them. Bad luck, she says.

Mayor Outlines Road Work Plan In West Monroe

West Monroe Mayor J. Allen Norris announced yesterday that a street improvement program for the city has been outlined and surveys have been completed to determine necessary procedures.

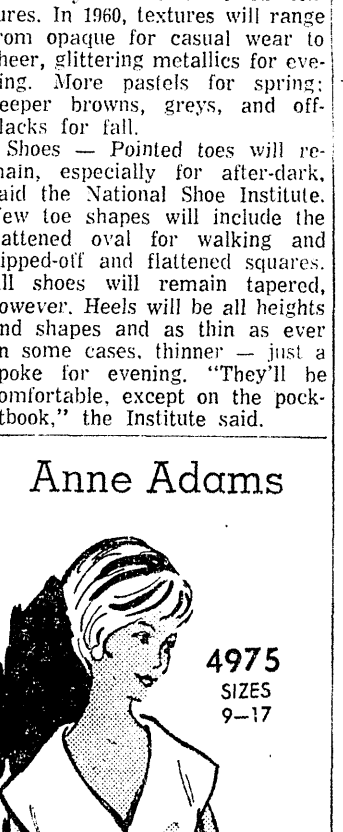

He stated that a representative of a New Orleans engineering firm has been in West Monroe to make "some alterations" in the street survey completed several months ago.

Norris said the present survey specified which streets were in need of repairs and what improvement would be needed to put them in first class shape.

The proposed steps for the street improvement program will include a complete listing of the routes requiring repairs and legal procedures drawn up to be approved by the city council. The city will then publish notices of its intention to pave the streets and allow time to hear any objections from property owners.

DESPITE CRASH RASH

Flight Insurance At Normal Rate

NEW YORK (AP) — When airlines crash, as four have so far this year, insurance companies start a search for policy beneficiaries that can rival the sleuthing of government accident investigators.

About 5 per cent of all scheduled airline passengers pick up some air insurance before boarding their planes, according to industry estimates.

Surprisingly, only one of four beneficiaries named in policies bought at airport booths and machines voluntarily collect the money, insurance officials report. In most cases, the companies must ferret them out even though it's not required by law. The reason is that many buyers neglect to mail policy copies home.

To track down the beneficiaries, the insurance firms obtain the crashed plane's passenger list and then a copy of each victim's ticket. Next, they check all the cities named on each ticket against their own records in those cities.

If a company finds a crash victim bought a policy at any point on his trip, it notifies the beneficiary.

The process is expensive. But, "It's the only way we can be sure people who buy our product get the benefits of it," says William Churchill, chief of the air travel department of Associated Aviation Underwriters.

Associated, an aviation underwriting pool of 3 insurance companies, is one of the three big organizations which sell insurance at air terminals. The others are Continental Casualty Co. and Mutual of Omaha.

Despite the rash of airliner crashes lately, none of the companies plan to raise their prices. A spokesman for Mutual of Omaha explains, "We look at overall results for a year, not just for a brief period. We would not change our rates just on the basis of an epidemic of crashes as we've had lately."

Actually, the cost of the insurance has receded since it was introduced in 1938. The companies have broadened the coverage offered by each policy. The basic charge is 25 cents for each $6,250 of insurance. The maximum single purchase allowed is $62,500.

The average buyer at airport gets $25,000 of insurance for $1, insurance men say. Air insurance officials report sales have run at a normal rate this week in spite of the publicity about plane crashes.

Senate Bogged In Dispute Over Rights Action

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate bogged down in dispute Friday over states rights and civil rights and once more put off final action on a federal elections bill.

The only major action in a day of debate was to provide that the bill, if it becomes law, shall not apply to this year's election campaigns.

Without objection, the Senate accepted an amendment of Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois making the effective date Jan. 1, 1961.

The bill, revising the 35-year-old Corrupt Practices Act, would require fuller reporting of campaign expenditures and contributions and lift legal spending limits.

The Senate spent the first part of the day arguing over an amendment by Sen. Strom Thurmond (D-SC) to curb political activities of labor unions. In the end, Thurmond withdrew the amendment and said he would offer it as separate legislation.

Then a hassle over states rights was touched off by an amendment offered by Sen. Russell B. Long (D-La.) to require all candidates for Congress to be nominated in primary elections.

Sen. Kenneth B. Keating (R-NY) countered with an amendment to Long's amendment. This would permit a federal court to void any primary if any duly qualified voters were denied the right to vote.

This injection of the issue of Negro voting triggered another round of dispute, and Acting Majority Leader Mike Mansfield (D-Mont) got the Senate to recess until Monday.

Registration at Northeast State for the spring term will be on February 3. Dr. C. O. Hanna, director of admissions, asks that new students lacking admission cards report to his office in the administration building.

State Dues Quota Cut By $4,000

WASHINGTON (Special) — The Democratic National Committee lopped $4,000 of Louisiana's 1960 dues quota Friday during a stormy meeting here.

The committee, amid bitter debate, adopted a new formula which raised money quotas for 23 of the state democratic organizations and lowered the rest. Louisiana's share of the $1,154,150 which the committee levied on its state groups will be $23,000 this year instead of $27,000.

QUOTAS The new quotas based on a complex formula which strikes the average of:

1. Each state's electoral vote as a percentage of the national total;
2. East state's democratic membership in the House of Representatives as a percentage of that body's total democratic strength;
3. Each state's population as a percentage of the total national population; and
4. Each state's expendable personal income as a percentage of the national total.

The formula would have increased total dues from $1,187,500 to $1,220,800, but it was decided that only half the increase for any state with a higher quota would take effect this year.

Lassiter Sees April Decision By High Court

District Attorney Albin P. Lassiter, back from a Supreme Court hearing on the Civil Rights Commission in Washington, D. C., forecast a court decision by April.

Lassiter appeared with Louisiana Attorney General Jack P. F. Gremillion before the high court Monday and Tuesday, in arguments against the Commission.

"The Court was very attentive and seemed to be interested in the case," the District Attorney commented yesterday.

However, the complications of the case prevented him from predicting what the court's decision will be.

COMPLEX "It's too involved a case to even guess at what will be done," he said.

Gremillion argued before the Court that the Commission went far beyond its authority when it summoned 17 North Louisiana registrars of voters to Shreveport for a hearing last July 13.

The Registrars were not informed of charges against them, or of what they would be asked. However, arguments by attorneys at that time sidetracked the hearing, and a three-judge federal court in Shreveport then decided it could not be held.

The federal government then appealed it to the Supreme Court. "The decision might come anywhere from within the next seven days to two months from now," Lassiter forecast.

Tax Vote Called In Franklin By Parish Jurors

WINNSBORO (Special) — The Franklin parish police jury has called a tax election for Tuesday, February 16, for the purpose of renewing the five mill road tax which expired on December 31, 1959.

According to A. J. Riser, police jury president, property owning voters will also be asked to approve or disapprove an additional two and one-half mill tax for the purchase of culverts and bridge material only. The two propositions will be voted on separately.

Woody R. Netherland, secretary treasurer of the police jury, explained that the road and bridge funds are exhausted and that it is imperative that this tax be renewed in order to prevent a complete breakdown of the Franklin parish road system.

Road Is Abandoned By Police Jurors

An old strip of state highway 139 on Bayou Desiard near the Lakeshore Subdivision was officially abandoned by the Ouachita Parish Police Jury in its second consecutive meeting yesterday. Ward 2 jurymen W. J. Vinson cast the only vote against a resolution presented to the Police Jury by Monroe realtor Dick Kellogg to close the road.

"That resolution was written by Jim Sparks and Kellogg," Vinson said.

The State Department of Highways abandoned a portion of 139 shortly after completing a new strip in a project which re-worked the highway, after referred to as Old Bastrop Road and the Swartz Road.

District Engineer Wayne H. Huckaby said yesterday that the portion abandoned took in approximately 1500 feet, ending about 600 feet south of the Joe White Road alongside Bayou Desiard.

Under the law, a road abandoned by the state reverts to the parish, which in this case took steps to abandon also. That means the road now will be closed.

Or, the road can be maintained by the property owners. Kellogg owns property in the area.

Huckaby met with the Police Jury on 139 Wednesday morning, explaining that the old strip was abandoned because of its general poor condition.

The Police Jury voted yesterday, shortly before embarking on its second consecutive road inspection in two days. All jurymen were present with the exception of Ward 8 member A. R. Sims.

On other matters, the Police Jury moved to advertise for bids to resurface parts of Camelia and Beasley streets in Lakeshore and also for several pieces of highway equipment.

Official at the services will be the Rev. J. S. Deal, and Dr. H. R. Herrington. Interment will be in the Rayville Masonic Cemetery under the direction of Mulhearn Funeral Home of Rayville.

Pallbearers will be Otis Henderson, T. L. Gates, Arvil Cox, James Craig, W. D. Cotton, and Basil Doles.

Postmasters Of Area Set Ruston Meet

Postmasters from 12 Louisiana communities will attend a special meeting next Wednesday at Ruston, to study a new federal inventory system according to Monroe Postmaster Woodrow W. Hathorn.

Dallas, Tex. Postal official L. J. Ratliff will instruct.

National plans for taking inventory of personal property owned and used by the Post Office prompted the class, Hathorn revealed.

"We have a list of everything in the Postoffice — but I am sure that throughout the United States, a great deal of equipment is not listed," he stated.

The session, which will last from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., will stress new procedures.

Area postmasters slated to attend are: Homer Roark, West Monroe; John Jones, Bastrop; Milford Green, Winfield; James B. Fain, Jonesboro; Austin Smith, Rayville; Robert Gandy, Tallulah and Roy Taylor, Winnsboro.

Minden, Springhill, Bossier City, Houma, Mansfield and Natchitoches postmasters also will be on hand.

Concert Set At Neville High School

Neville High School presents the Concert Band, Herbert Gathright, conductor, in a special concert, featuring Don Jacoby, world famous trumpet virtuoso, tonight in Neville Auditorium at 8:00.

Jacoby is well known among music circles for his special ability. He started out on the road to stardom when he was quite young and worked his way up to the top. During this long climb, he played with many different musical organizations around the country.

Benny Goodman and Les Brown's orchestras featured Jacoby on trumpet not too many years ago. More recently, he has been affiliated with the CBS Chicago studio orchestra.

SCHEDULED

Jacoby is scheduled to hold a clinic for bandmen from the tri-state area of Louisiana, Mississippi and Arkansas. At 9:00 this morning at Neville.

At noon today a special luncheon at the Highland Park Country Club will be given for all visiting band directors by a local music store. This afternoon Jacoby will practice with the Neville band in preparation for the concert.

This is but one of the top events sponsored by the Neville Band this year. There will also be another public concert in the KILAUEA IS ANGRY — Smoke and molten lava spew from the crater of Kilauea on the Island of Hawaii. In foreground is village of Kapoho whose 300 residents were evacuated when the eruption began Jan. 13. Main flow of lava courses toward the Pacific Ocean (upper right), other lava flows threatened the village. A fleet of bulldozers erected a stone and mud dike along the northern edge of Kapoho to try and divert the lava flow. However, on Jan. 20 the flow halted just before the dikes. This air view was made by Torry Luke of the Honolulu Star Bulletin. (AP Wirephoto)

POLICE BLOTTER

THEFT REPORTED
Monroe police said yesterday that a car had been reported stolen from its owner at 415 North 12th street.

The owner, identified as Johnny Thomas, said his auto was a 1951 model black sedan, license No. 2007.

The auto was believed by its owner to have been stolen between 9:30 p.m. Thursday and 6 a.m. yesterday. The theft was reported to Monroe police at 3:10 p.m. yesterday, officers said.

A Monroe resident reported to police yesterday that about 10 windows had been smashed in a vacant house on his property by what apparently were BB guns.

BREAKAGE

H. R. Anding said that windows in the main building were smashed, along with those in the garage, at 305 Columbia Avenue. The owner said the screen door to the main building was also cut.

Police indicated the work was done by juveniles and officials said a number of suspects were to be questioned in the case.

IN CUSTODY
Sheriff Bailey Grant said yesterday that a former Monroe man, identified as L. J. Hill, is being held in Phoenix City, Ariz., for theft by check of an automobile valued at $1750.

Sheriff Grant said his department had been contacted by the Phoenix City officials that Hill was being held there. The warrant for his arrest was issued on Jan. 7.

He is to be returned to Monroe to face the charge. Bond has been set at $2,500, sheriff officials said.

TRANSFERRED
A West Monroe man, Robert Thompson, 36, was transferred to the Ouachita parish jail after he was arrested by West Monroe

Congressman Otto E. Passman will return to Washington today after spending two days in Monroe and the Fifth Congressional District.

Passman flew home Wednesday night to take part in the Jimmie H. Davis Award Banquet held at Jonesboro Thursday night. The event was sponsored by the Jackson Parish Jaycees.

Davis, governor elect of Louisiana, was introduced at the banquet by Passman, who stumped for him during the recent campaign. Davis in turn lauded Passman.

Passman said late yesterday he was scheduled to make a trip to the Far East next week on official business. He is chairman of the subcommittee on foreign aid.

An announcement from the Fifth District representative is forthcoming, he explained.

BROADWAY BULLETIN BOARD
Sugar Ray Robinson and Steve Masters are cooking up a plan for a multi-million dollar fight program that will make front page headlines when they decide to divulge the news. . . . Portland Hoffa is said to have approved a TV special based on the life of her late husband, Fred Allen, with Art Carney playing the leading role. . . . Leo Durocher, who flew in to New York from Miami Beach to spend a little time with his buddy, Frank Sinatra, returned to Florida instead of going directly to California, where wife Laraine Day awaited him for "a discussion".

Fulgencio Batista, ex-dictator of Cuba, is getting tired of the quiet life on the Iberian Peninsula and hopes President De Gaulle will allow him to live in Paris, where things swing. . . . Labor unions are just waiting for the release of a flicker recently completed on foreign soil. As soon as it's launched, they plan to hit the producers hard with a charge that the workers who built the sets for the movie were non-union. . . . Dick Clark is liable to be big news soon after the Harris Committee revelations in Washington. Many persons with whom he does business have received subpoenas to appear.

Faye Emerson displayed the sense of balance of a Caribbean native at Goldie's New York the other night when she danced all around the room with a full glass of water on her head — and didn't spill a drop. . . . Gotham city desks might check on the story of the policeman who was shot last month while he was in a hotel room with belly dancer "Princess" Jasmina. He may want to change his version of what happened. . . . West Coast twosomes: Popularity contestant Jane Langley with TV actor John Lupton, and singer Blossom Dearie with Johnny Mathis. . . . The Purdue University opinion panel, usually one of the most accurate of the polls, recently compiled the results of their nation-wide survey of 15,000 high school students. If they could vote, Vice President Nixon would be a three-to-one favorite over Gov. Rockefeller, who just about tied in third place with Adlai Stevenson. Sen. Jack Kennedy came out two percentage points ahead of Adlai, three over Rocky.

Betty Hutton is upset because her TV program isn't the success she expected. . . . Paddy Chayevsky's Broadway play, "The Tenth Man," has paid off its angels. It's now making a $7,500 a week profit. . . . John Barrymore's hospitalization in Los Angeles came as no great surprise to New Yorkers who'd observed his odd behavior in the Gotham cafes—he was unusually noisy, and kept telling headwaiters who he was so he could be reached immediately if an important telephone call came through. The calls never arrived. . . . Patricia Partington certainly keeps on the move. For some time she was Princess Margaret's private secretary, and when she left that post to become an evangelist, there was quite a flurry. Now Patricia has switched from evangelism to nursing in a Kent hospital. . . . Montgomery Clift and Nancy Walker, great buddies, seem to be on a health kick. Their "dinner" order at Voisin the other evening featured two double clam juices. . . . Fashion Model Dovima is the latest beauty to succumb to the lure of the dramatic. She's studying acting with Lee Strasberg. . . . Dat ole debbil horseracing may enter the mysterious case of the late Julian A. Frank, the heavily-insured lawyer who went to his death in that recently-headlined plane crash. When his pictures hit the papers, many devotees of the tracks recognized him as someone they'd spotted consistently at Belmont and Aqueduct — usually trying to beat the $50 window. . . . Rowan and Martin, the comedy team opening at the Copacabana, made the big switch from writing to performing. Dan Rowan was a Paramount scenarist, and Dick Martin used to conduct the "Duffy's Tavern" series before they decided to be funny in front of audience instead of a typewriter. . . . One of New York's most famous political figures of the last decade now gets his kicks in a 3rd Ave. saloon, surrounded by a Bvey of B-girls. . . . Ann Woodward's latest beau, 25-year-old Peter Townsend, made a big hit in London the other day with his quote: "There is no question of marriage. It is simply mutual interest in the arts." This flipped socialites on the U.S. side of the ocean, too; they figure they knew how Ann stood on marriage, but while she lived in New York her interest in the arts was not conspicuous. . . . Those who've seen the Brando picture, "One Eyed Jacks" report that it combines the violence of "waterfront" with the tenderness of "Sayonara," and despite all the gags about its length and the temperament problems, it may win Marion another Oscar. . . . Now there's talk that Dinah Washington may lodge suit against the Los Angeles police because they questioned her about allegedly being in a party with mobster Mickey Cohen.

Charley Conerly of the New York Giants ranks third in passing history of the National Football League with 1,308 completions and 158 touchdowns passes.

CLOTHES MAKE THE MAN

Give Poor Man Break, A Razor Is A Big Help

DEAR MR. JUSTER: My husband refuses to shave on Saturdays because he feels it's his privilege to have one day free from using a razor. By late afternoon his "five o'clock" shadow looks more like a coat of sandpaper. We've been married only a few months and I don't want to be the henpecking type, but don't you think he's wrong in letting himself go this way?

A Newlywed Your mother and grandmother, too, probably had the same complaint. A man likes to feel he can do as he pleases — occasionally. Just accept it and let him enjoy this male peculiarity around his own home. If unexpected company should start coming up the walk, shove a razor in his hand. He'll assert himself by using it.

DEAR MR. JUSTER: My husband bought a suit with a matching vest. Now he doesn't want to wear the vest, claiming that none of the men he knows use them. To me, this is absurd. I feel it adds a lot to his appearance. Don't you agree that he should wear it?

Mrs. S.S. Only if he wants to. Your husband undoubtedly picked this suit because he primarily liked the way the coat looked on him. Whether he chooses to wear the vest constantly, occasionally or not at all is a personal matter that's entirely up to him. This is one little thing that a man should be allowed to decide for himself.

DEAR MR. JUSTER: I recently purchased a soft shetland sportcoat consisting of charcoal, olive flecks and gray, hair-like protruding strands. Now what other ties and accessories can I wear besides gray or charcoal?

V.J.E. This needs rich warm coloring to set off the predominant charcoal and gray tones in the coat. Similar color neckwear will merely create a more somber effect. Try the new amber tones, antique golds and soft olives. The same goes for your sportshirts. For a final touch top it off with a patterned pocket handkerchief that picks up these shadings.

DEAR MR. JUSTER: Aren't suits more in good taste for 10 and 15 years old boys at a morning church wedding? The 16-year-old wants to wear a tartan plaid corduroy jacket and gray flannel slacks. If he wears this, then his older brother says he'll also go in a sportcoat and slacks. Would you please advise?

Mrs. J. G. I'd be hard put to name any event more appropriate for young boys to appear in a suit, if they own one, than at a morning church wedding. Dressing for the occasion ap-

New Officers Selected By Shrine Club

Succeeding Eugene B. Scott as president of Northeast Louisiana Shrine Club is Carl Thompson of West Monroe who was elected Thursday night.

The El Karubah Temple of the Shrine of North America, of which the Northeast Shrine Club is a part, has been cited as a leader in the nation. This is the largest club in the nation.

plies to youngsters as well as to the parents. To Stanley D. Don't let anyone talk you out of wearing a bow tie with a button down shirt, if you like.

TIP FOR THE DAY Please Yourself
Regardless of how faultlessly you think you are dressed, there's always someone who's bound to find fault. Perhaps it's the way you wear your hat or knot your tie. You can't please everybody. So follow this rule. Make sure your clothes are right and concern yourself with pleasing one person. YOU.
Mr. Juster will be glad to answer your questions. He also has a booklet, "Guide to Better Dress" which includes a color chart, physical proportions chart, and many tips for improving appearance. The booklet is available free. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope to Harry Juster in care of The World.

The motto is "A man never stood so straight as when he stooped to help a crippled child."

OFFICERS
Other officers elected and installed last night at the Shrine Club House on Cheniere Lake were: J. Allan Norris, West Monroe, vice - president; E. A. Porter, Jr., Monroe, vice - president; R. F. Polk, Winnboro, J. M. Gustafson, Tallulah, and K. W. Hallstead, Marion, area vice - presidents; James A. Daniel, West Monroe, secretary; and A. N. DeSeamus, West Monroe, treasurer.
Elected to the board of directors were S. R. Kirk, Leo Baer, R. O. Rogers, E. C. Paulus, Fred Salley, Travis Woods, Ira Cagle, Sr. and Frank P. Stadler, all of Monroe; J. Ellis Ross, J. F. Caldwell, West Monroe; H. E.

Lowry, Don Ingram and Collins Lang, all of Winnboro; and Marvin Ramsey of Sterlington.

Introduced at the meeting were officers of the El Karubah Temple for the ensuing year. They were: George O. Baird, Jr., pontentate; N. H. McClamrock, Jr., chief rabban; Alvin N. Phillips, assistant rabban; E. D. Clark, high priest and prophet; Fred Hoffman, Oriental guide; C. M. Wicks, recorder; and W. A. Stephens, Jr., treasurer.

HOW ABOUT SERVICE FOR OUTBOARDS?

You should not overlook this angle because it really is more important than the brand you choose or the price you pay.
Good outboard service is not to be found on every corner, and for every dealer who does offer correct servicing there are dozens of unequipped and inexperienced dealers who leave you high and dry when servicing is needed.
When you shop for boat and motor, be darned sure service is part of the package, as much so as price and brand consideration. If the selling dealer cannot properly service after the sale, then you are being cheated on your purchase.
We offer you 29 years of proven service experience and have the only complete stock of outboard parts in Northeast Louisiana. Our Johnson customers are the best looked after outboard owners in the country.
Check the facts carefully. Compare our facilities with all others and you'll choose Johnson.
